Merchants fare well during Arctic blast

MARY FOLEY
Staff reporter

Just when you thought it was over, Mother Nature hit Antioch and, well, all of Northern Illinois with yet another blast of frigid icy temperatures this week. Pipes were frozen, cars wouldn't start, and some furnaces were not up to the task of keeping residents warm.

One of the first problems residents faced this week was starting their cars. According to Mike Herren Bruck, of Antioch Auto Parts, they are doing a booming business.

"The big sellers are batteries, alternators, antifreeze, block heaters, and lower engine heaters," explained Bruck. "People are buying anything to keep their cars warm."

As though feeling cold on the outside was not enough, many residents seemed to also be feeling "under the weather." At the Antioch Walgreens cold medicines were selling like hotcakes along with heat for cars and windshield solvent.

Chilly Antioch residents are flocking to the Ben Franklin store on Lake Street to purchase warm clothing as well as deicers.

"Basically, we are selling a lot of gloves, mittens, hats, scarves, thermal underwear, sweat shirts and pants," said Bob Obenauf of Ben Franklin. "We are also selling a lot of salt."

Antioch residents also found their heating and furnace units not working up to speed. Vic Olsen, of V. Olsen Heating and Air has been exceptionally busy this cold snap. However, he finds that many of the problems could have been prevented.

"The number one problem is a lack of preventative maintenance," advised Olsen. "Dirty filters restrict the air going into the furnace, which restricts the amount of air blowing out."

Commonwealth Edison has reported no major outages in the Antioch area on the weekend. Edison has a new program, Weather Alert Reliability Program (WARP). Since last Friday, Edison has been on a special weather alert with extra crews on standby to combat possible outages.

"We are monitoring the temperatures," said Ron Crawford, a Commonwealth Edison spokesperson. "As long as the low temperatures persist, we will continue the special weather alert."

Village approves less costly lock system

MARY FOLEY
Staff reporter

The Antioch Village Board has approved a lower-priced entry system for the Antioch Fire Department. Instead of the $51,000 leased program, the board has decided to go with a $13,000 key tag entry system that the village and district would own.

The new entry system will incorporate key tags with computer software to keep a record of anyone entering the building. A key with a special number will be issued to fire department employees and volunteers. When that person enters or exits the building the software will record the event. This will provide officials with a written copy of the comings and goings of personnel, while offering an opportunity to determine who is responsible if something is amiss.

"We have a lot invested in that building," said Tim Wells, village manager. "We really need to know who goes in and out."

Wells denied there are any vandalism or personnel problems at the fire station. Instead, he said the problem is that the current system is in disrepair and only a limited number of codes can be used. With confidential fire prevention information as well as very expensive equipment, the building does have security requirements.

This explanation flies in the face of information provided to the board two weeks ago by Lee See LOCKS page A5

Dr. Joseph Burke visits with Susan Pingel and newborn, Kerri.

Doctor makes special delivery

MARY FOLEY
Staff reporter

Susan Pingel had a very special delivery when her 5-pound, 13-ounce daughter came into the world. Pingel was visiting her Lindenhurst obstetrician, Dr. Joseph L. Burke, when it was discovered she was in labor.

Burke decided to go that extra mile and drove Pingel to Victory Memorial Hospital on Jan. 4. Pingel had been driven to the doctor's office by a co-worker. Only hours later, she delivered her daughter, Kerri.

Tiny Kerri joins a 16-month-old brother, three weeks early. According to the proud mother, her son was also three weeks early.

"She is doing pretty well," said Pingel. "Just a little sleepy."

Pingel reports she is recovering nicely, but with two children under the age of two, she will have her hands full.

Burke's practice is with the Waukegan Obstetrics and Gynecological Associations. The practice has offices in both Waukegan and Lindenhurst.

Antioch High School cheerleaders perform a cheer before receiving a key to the village at the village board meeting.

Cheerleaders get village key

MARY FOLEY

Staff reporter

The Antioch Community High School Varsity Cheerleaders received the key to the village as well as a certificate of achievement for placing 6th in the International Open Cheerleading Competition. This was done in a special ceremony before the Antioch Village Board.

"It is very important that you recognize us," said Team Captain Sarah McKoski to the board. "It means a lot."

The village board was then treated to a sample of the squad's abilities. After two cheering routines, it was obvious to all why the squad did so well in the competition.

The international event took place in Nashville, Tennessee in December. Members of the winning team include: Danielle Adams, Candy Chingo, Laura Harris, Gina Hoerle, Brandi Houle, Katie Lutgen, Sarah McKoski, Heather Miller, Jamie Ryan, Dana Thompson, Jill Thompson, and Jennie Weber.

The squad received a large trophy from the competition along with the key to the Village of Antioch and a certificate of achievement.

Domancuk says he'll donate salary

MARY FOLEY

Staff Reporter

Kenneth Domancuk, Republican candidate for the Lake County Board, has promised to use whatever salary he would receive as a board member to open and staff a local office in Antioch. And, if there is any left over, he plans on donating the excess to extra-curricular activities at area schools.

Domancuk, age 50, and owner of Antioch Antiques, is a 12-year resident of Antioch. He attended Tuley School in Chicago, and then went on to Wright College. In college, he majored in Business Administration. While he has no political experience, he is a member of the Antioch VFW and a Viet Nam veteran. Domancuk is also a member of St. Peter's Church.

"I think there are issues that specifically concern the residents of Antioch Township," Domancuk explained. "Sewers and water, protection of the wetlands, and controlled growth are very important."

He also feels that whoever is in the office of County Board should stand by referendum votes of the citizens, regardless of the politician's personal views. Domancuk believes that whether the question is a riverboat or an education fund, it is the responsibility of politicians to represent the wishes of the voters.

However, Domancuk is not against financial assistance of Antioch Community High School. Instead, he believes he has a financial proposal to finance school in a different way.

"I think it is important not to cut out extra-curricular activities at the schools," said Domancuk.

Domancuk promises to work full time at the job of County Board member. More importantly, he has pledged to use whatever salary he receives to open and staff a local office in the building where his business is located in the old Channel Lake School. By having his board office so close to his business, he is confident he can provide easier access to residents and the County Board. He also hopes to hold township meetings, inviting neighborhoods to voice their County concerns.

"I have a lot of room in this building," explained Domancuk. "There is an auditorium where we could have quarterly township meetings at the County Board level."

Holbeck Street or not?

MARY FOLEY

Staff reporter

The Antioch Village Board has just discovered how truly difficult it is to change the names of streets. Several weeks ago, two ordinances were read charging the names of Turner Drive to Holbek Drive and Liberty Street to Williams.

It was later discovered that an ordinance changing the name of Turner to Holbek had been passed in the late '70s. However, at that time the board failed to send notice. So, the name change was never official.

Due to the prior ordinance, the village would have to repeal the old ordinance before passing a new one. Instead, the village will be sending notification. However, it is not known whether there is a time limit on notification.

As to the Liberty-Williams change, since no prior ordinance was found, the new ordinance plus notice should do the trick.

All of this procedure is necessary because the tax records and maps do not reflect the correct street names. It has also been discovered that the very street the village hall is located on does not exist on certain maps.

Waterway Agency gaining support

BILL SCHROEDER

Publisher

Eight thousand households in northwest Lake County have been targeted to receive information for voting on March 15 on why the Chain O'Lakes/Fox River Waterway Management Agency should be retained.

The residences contain eligible voters in Grant, Antioch and Lake Villa townships who are being urged by the Concerned Citizens for the Continuation of the Agency (CCCA) to support efforts to extend the life of the anti-pollution and safety agency beyond 1994.

"That's a big order, but we're getting lots of support," exclaimed Pete Jakstas, Fox Lake marina operator and CCCA co-chairman.

Early support came from resolutions adopted this week by the Village of Fox Lake and Grant Township. Jakstas reported that supportive action will be taken by Antioch Township, Village of Antioch, Fox Lake Chamber of Commerce and the McHenry Chamber of Commerce.

George Thompson, agency director from McHenry County and McHenry co-chairman for passage of the advisory referendum being conducted on both sides of the Fox Lake, reported that organization is proceeding at a brisk pace.

Agency territory as defined in enabling legislation passed by the Illinois General Assembly in 1984 contains approximately 30,000 voters in Lake County today and about 24,000 voters in the McHenry County portion of the district.

CCCA, which is raising funds for the get-out-the-vote campaign, has hired Larry Leafblad as campaign manager. Leafblad represents the Round Lake area on the Lake County Board and has more than 30 years experience in advertising and public relations.

Cindy Collins of Antioch, a real estate broker, was introduced as CCCA secretary.

Dr. William Dam of Fox Lake, chairman of the non-tax supported agency, said no agency funds will be used for the retention campaign. "We're being very careful about that," Dam emphasized. Initial fund raising efforts resulted in $3,700, according to Jakstas.

Dam is spearheading an aggressive speaking schedule to address governmental bodies and civic organizations on what the agency has accomplished. With 90 percent of its funding coming from user fees paid by boaters, the agency removed 6,500 truck loads of silt last year and cleaned a number of navigation channels. The agency maintains 500 buoys in the lake system.

Grass Lake begins search

The Grass Lake School Board has contracted with the Illinois Association of School Boards to begin the necessary steps to locate a new superintendent to replace Dr. Ruth Bill, who will be leaving at the end of the year. The IASB will begin, through its field representative Dawn Miller, the selection process by sending out surveys to parents, staff, the community, and the board. Then she will meet with a focus group, staff members, and the individual members of the board. Once the information is compiled, a profile will be created to match a candidate with the superintendent position.

Grass Lake considers consolidation

Consideration of the consolidation of Grass Lake School is only in the very early discussion stages at this point. The board has not approached District 34 (Antioch Consolidated School District) nor even begun to discuss the pros and cons of such a move. However, the Grass Lake School Board is in the process of setting up a meeting to begin consideration.

Emmons prepares for blast off

MARY FOLEY

Staff Reporter

Emmons School District is preparing for their 4th annual space simulation on Feb. 15-16. Teachers Cindy Vandrush and Cindy Thielen took time out of their busy schedules to explain the program at the Antioch Rotary Club luncheon at Hogan's Restaurant.

The Space Simulation Program will be a 24-hour event this year in which students will man a simulated mission control, a space station, and a space shuttle. Parents and students have constructed self-contained habitats to house the astronauts. They will be linked by radio and computer to Mission Control, which will be staffed by classmates. The astronauts will conduct experiments and monitor their vital signs throughout the mission.

Some of the experiments will include creating their own biosphere and growing things in space. The students will be taking snails into "space" and record scientific data.

The program is coordinated by the Lake County Business Industry and Education Consortium (LCBIEC). Several years ago, a small group of educators and business leaders decided to address the growing need to improve science, math, and technology literacy. They realized that space exploration not only captured the imagination of children, but was also an interdisciplinary wonderland of teaching possibilities.

In the past three years, 31 schools and 3,000 children in grades one through 12 have participated in this program. Major funding of the program comes from the Illinois State Board of Education science literacy project provided by the Illinois State Legislature. Additional funds and support is provided by local donations and equipment from individuals, schools, and businesses.

"It is a way to do cooperative training," explained Vandrush.

"It integrates math, science, and English."

Students, however, learn a great deal more from the space simulation. In order to have a position in the mission, students are required to fill out an application. Along with the application, they must include letters of recommendation. This teaches students both business writing skills as well as job seeking skills.

Computer skills are also taught to students in the program. A centralized computer is installed in Waukegan and coordinates the Bulletin Board Service (BBS). Through the BBS, each participating school can communicate with other schools. Students will do the actual operating of the communication equipment. Several middle school students have been selected to work at the "County Mission Control."

The "blast off" assembly will be Monday, Feb. 14 at 2 p.m. Tours of mission control will be from 9 a.m. to 9 p.m. February 15.

With Superbowl just around the corner, check out the window of the Collection Connection on

by MARY FOLEY
Staff reporter

The Antioch Village Board has approved an extension of 90 more days to the Windmill Creek Development. The development has yet to complete certain public and quasi-public improvements.

This will be the second extension that the developer has received. In December, the developer asked for an extension of one year. However, the board denied that request.

The new extension, which will run until April 18, serves to forestall the board from drawing on the letter of credit. To date, the developer has not completed the public sidewalks and erosion control measures.

Apparently, there is a problem with a pond located in the planned development. At this time, it is not known why the pond has expanded. More time is needed to determine the cause.

The second extension was predicted by Antioch Village Planner, Robert Silhan because of the necessary investigation.

"This is not the same situation as Pine Hills," Silhan told the board in December. "I am looking beyond the sidewalk issue."

Shannon, public safety director. Shannon refused to cite specific examples of security problems at the station but, when pushed, admitted there is a problem. When asked directly if there had been some vandalism at the station, Shannon responded, "I choose not to talk about it in public. I would be happy to discuss it in executive session."

Wells provided cost information regarding a lock and key system, a number pad system, a card system, and the key tag system. A regular lock and key system would cost approximately $5,300, while a replacement of the current system would cost roughly $5,400.

The board was told by Wells the lock and key system was a problem because of the possibility of a fire fighter forgetting his key. Trustee Marvin Oldenburger questioned by a fire fighter would be more likely to remember a key tag than a key.

Mayor Marilyn Shineflug went on to explain that it would be difficult to duplicate a key tag unlike an ordinary key. If a regular lock and key were used, the fire department could potentially be stuck replacing all the locks when fire personnel left the department.

When asked why the department didn't just require the return of a key when personnel left and simply use a non-duplicating key, Wells responded that such a system would be a "downgrade."

"We need to upgrade," said Wells. "The current system is 1979 technology."

The cost of the new system is $13,000 along with a service contract with Security Link for $1,284. The approved system is similar to the $51,000 operation lease program originally recommended by the Fire Protection District without the television monitors. Also, both the village and the district would own the unit.

"A TV monitoring system is overkill," said Wells. "But, if needed, it can be added in the future."

The system must now be approved by the Fire District, which would be responsible for half the cost. The district has rescinded its recommendation for the more expensive operational lease. If the key tags are approved by the district, the village would be paying for the other half of the costs.

ACHS gunshot rumor false

MARY FOLEY
Staff reporter

The rumor that there was a shooting at the Antioch Community High School is not true. While there was an incident on Wednesday, Jan. 12, a BB gun, not firearms, were involved.

Jason Gifford, age 18, of Antioch has been charged with aggravated battery and unlawful use of a weapon and Joshua Johnson, age 20, of Fox Lake has been charged with reckless conduct arising out of the incident.

According to police reports a student was leaving the Antioch Community High School parking lot when he observed a gray mid-sized Pontiac. Witnesses told police that they then saw a weapon stuck out of the passenger window.

The victim heard a "swish" of air and then felt a sharp pain in his hand. The force was enough to cause him to drop his books. According to the victim, the attack was unprovoked and he had never seen the perpetrators

A quick-witted student was able to write down the vehicle registration number and police were able to locate it one block away.

There were a number of juvenile passengers in the car and they told police that Gifford had repeatedly fired the BB gun for fun. According to the report, one juvenile shouted "shoot them" and Gifford discharged the BB gun.

Police were able to retrieve a .177 caliber BB gun.

Homeowners to discuss lake issues

MARY FOLEY
Staff reporter

Many homeowner associations in Antioch Township face similar issues: lake problems, septic system concerns, well water problems, road and traffic concerns, garbage collection, and other quality of life issues.

An opportunity for these groups to exchange ideas will present itself on Jan. 26 at 7 p.m. The group will meet at the Felter's Association Clubhouse, located off of Route 173 on Addison Lane. Mark Phiester of the Environmental Health of Lake County and Jim Bland, a specialist on environmentally safe weedkillers will address the group.

On Nov. 10, six local homeowner's associations gathered to discuss mutual concerns at the Felter's Homeowner's Association clubhouse. This historic gathering will mark the first time the separate associations have attempted to meet.

The meeting is open to all officers of homeowner associations in unincorporated Antioch Township. For more information, call Carol Jonites at 395-7371.

Trip leads

Wealthy woman

I always wondered what I would do if I hit it big in the lottery. Now, $25 million later, I know. That's right, folks, the Lizard was a big winner in the lottery. As I sat and watched the numbers being drawn, I soon realized they were calling the lucky numbers I play each week. The final number was the cincher. I quickly popped up after hearing it and went to dig out my ticket before contacting the lottery authorities. However, I could not find my ticket. I frantically searched in all my special hiding places and could not find it. I eventually located it just in time to verify the numbers.

I quickly made plans to share my instant wealth with my children and friends. These plans were made seconds before the "alarm clock" went off. I awoke all ready to continue the spending spree before I realized it was all a dream. Ouch, that hurt. However, it was fun while it lasted, if even only in my dreams. To continue...

Omen

I dreamt my lottery winning dream in Eagle River. Therefore, I considered it an omen indicating I was going to come into money. I immediately made plans with my hubby to visit the Lac View Dessert Indian Casino in Watersmeet, Mich. to cash in on my luck. Upon entering the casino, I took my allotted "wad" of money up to the cashier's window. I requested "X" amount of nickles, quarters and dollar tokens. Being totally sure that I was going to walk away a "big winner," my first try at instant wealth was made at the dollar slots. In went my token and out spilled 20 more. I knew it. I could feel it in my bones. Tonight was my lucky night.

Soon I lost all my dollar tokens and I meandered over to try my not-so-lucky luck at the quarter slots. I lost my quarter allotment even faster. I refused to throw in the towel and as I was in the process of working the nickle slots, my husband left his winning spree at the blackjack table to quadruple his money at the dollar slots. When all was said and done, we both lost our "wads." So much for omens. Maybe next time!

The program is coordinated by the Lake County Business Industry and Education Consortium (LCBIEC). Several years ago, a small group of educators and business leaders decided to address the growing need to improve science, math, and technology literacy. They realized that space exploration not only captured the imagination of children, but was also an interdisciplinary area. A "wonderland" of teaching could swim in the pool and she then said "John, no animals are allowed in the pool." John's final response/question was "Then why do they call it a 'Kitty' (kiddie) pool?" Once again, out of the mouths of babes.

GLS

With the cooperation of the weather and snow conditions, the Grass Lake School junior high students will be busy enjoying a ski trip to Alpine Valley Ski Resort tonight, Jan. 21. On Feb. 10, Mrs. Lynn Urban will be visiting the third and fourth grade classes at GLS to talk about the books of Laura Ingalls Wilder. These books about her pioneer life on the prairies of Minnesota and the Dakotas were the basis for the Michael Landon TV series "Little House on the Prairie." The children of Grass Lake School are looking forward to these exciting events.

Accomplishment

One of the more difficult songs we sing/perform in our activity circle is the bingo clapping song. The children learn the words quickly,

"It integrates math, science, and English."

Students, however, learn a great deal more from the space simulation. In order to have a position in the mission, students are required to fill out an application. Along with the application, they must include letters of recommendation. This teaches students both business writing skills as well as job seeking skills.

Computer skills are also taught to students in the program. A computer is available at 395-1105 or Barb Comstock at 395-4292. If you have any questions concerning the building addition or referendum, feel free to call either Matt or Barb.

Board meeting

The Jan. 11 Grass Lake School Board meeting was well-attended. The following items were discussed and/or approved at the meeting. A superintendent search presentation was given by Dawn Miller of IASB; board member John Gollon and Claudia Kasprzak volunteered to review applications for an architectural firm; board policies 245.03, 500.01 and 500.64 were approved; approval was given to purchase a computer for the junior high math classes; information was received concerning recognition, SEDOL and discipline committees; approved the removal of the low chain fence bordering the blacktop and fields; approval given for contractual SEDOL services for school year 1994-95.

Youth invited to 'Taste of 4-H'

You've heard about 4-H but aren't sure what it's all about? Youth ages 8 through 19 are invited to a Taste of 4-H on Saturday, Jan. 29, starting at 9 a.m. in the Cooperative Extension Auditorium on Rte. 45 in Grayslake. Participants can choose two "make and take" project sessions that will acquaint them with the program.

Basic Painting featuring acrylics on wood will be taught by Betty Burns while Lynne Mark will teach the basics of Counted Cross Stitch. Boys and girls may pick up a rock, any rock, and bring it to a rock identification session led by Ellen Bloomfield, CLC instructor. The fourth workshop will be taught by Master Gardener, Pat Henschen, who will show how to plant dish gardens, terrariums, and tabletop topiaries.

Participants need to register by calling the 4-H Office at 223-8627 by Jan. 27. Nominal fees will be charged for the class materials.

4-H is the youth educational program of the University of Illinois Cooperative Extension Service and is open to all youth ages 8 through 19. The Lake County Cooperative Extension office is at 100 South Rt. 45, Grayslake.

Antioch village streets offer trees, friendliness

BARBARA PORCH
Correspondent

Antioch offers tree-lined streets, boutiques for kids and adults, craft shops, an Amish furniture shop, interesting restaurants, antique malls, exotic pets, health foods and friendly people. All this is right on our doorstep without leaving home.

Here's just a taste of what's in store for you in Antioch:

Winter has just begun, with the months of January, February and March before us, find great deals on winter outerwear at Choosey Child, located right on Main Street. Take advantage of special savings on Zoodles for girls, which offers a unique and stylish look for toddlers and 4-6X.

Spring has arrived early at the Clothes Connection, located in the front of Flo's on Main Street. Their new spring lines are on special with early bird prices. Watch for a new Canadian line which promises a gorgeous material. Petites will play a big role in the spring collection. Right now find storewide savings on all winter apparel.

Interested in doll making? Peddler's Beach, on Main Street is offering a doll making class this winter. You can make a Country School Doll in one easy lesson. Stop by for more information on these classes. Watch for their new shipment of Yankee Candles and Lang Calendars.

Winter is nearly over at Dolly's Second Showing, on Lake Street. Storewide savings are in progress to start making room for spring. Consignors are starting to pick up their winter collections, so hurry in now to get the best selection.

Planning a wedding? Don't forget to stop by Kathy's Cottage, located in Flo's for information on silk flowers and centerpieces.

Get a new instrument for Christmas? There's no better time to start taking lessons, and no better place than Lake's Area Music, located on Main Street. Keyboard, guitar, and band instrument lessons are available for adults as well as children.

With Superbowl just around the corner, check out the window of the Collection Connection on Lake Street. You'll find collectible footballs, sports memorabilia, and, of course, Michael Jordan collectibles. Bears, Bulls, Sox and Cubs are all represented for the diehard fans.

Bishop to visit Methodist Church

The Reverend R. Sheldon Duecker, resident bishop of the Northern Illinois Conference, will be preaching at the Antioch United Methodist Church, at the 8:30 to 10:45 a.m. worship services on Sunday, Jan. 23. The church is located at 848 Main St., Antioch.

His sermon topic will be "A Call to Start Over" and the Scripture readings will be: Mark 1:14-20; I Corinthians 7:29-31; and Jonah 3:1-5, 10.

Ordained an Elder in 1953, Bishop Duecker served churches in the Indiana area until 1988 when he was appointed Bishop to the Northern Illinois Conference. He has also served as a District Superintendent, Director of Conference Council on Ministries, been active in mental health work, and served on the Boards of the University of Evansville, Christian Theological Seminary, and United Theological Seminary.

He will be sharing conversation and a continental breakfast with the congregation at 9:30 a.m.

The West Virginia Concert Chorale will be appearing in the Sanctuary of the Antioch United Methodist Church, 848 Main St., Antioch on Sunday, Jan. 23, at 4:30 p.m.

Sixty singers from fourteen states comprise the Concert Chorale, with most members coming from Pennsylvania, New Jersey, Maryland and West Virginia. The singers span the spectrum of academic concentrations, from music to business to the physical sciences.

Their 1994 Tour Program features Haydn's "Te Deum" and George Shearing's "Music to Hear," supplemented by sacred choral works from the classical tradition and traditional American songs.

Chamber names '94 officers

The Antioch Chamber of Commerce has announced the roster of new officers selected after last year's election. On January 22, there will be an installation dinner held at the Waterfall Restaurant.

The new president of the Chamber is Gary Klean. Klean, a lifetime resident of Antioch is the leasing manager for Lyons Ryan Ford. He attended St. Peter's School and graduated from Antioch Community High School.

Karen Dunham of First National Bank will be first vice-president. Rich Zeman, of Antioch Pizza, is the second vice-president and Bob Mueller of First Chicago-Antioch will be the treasurer. The secretary will be Cheryl White of Fantastic Sam's.

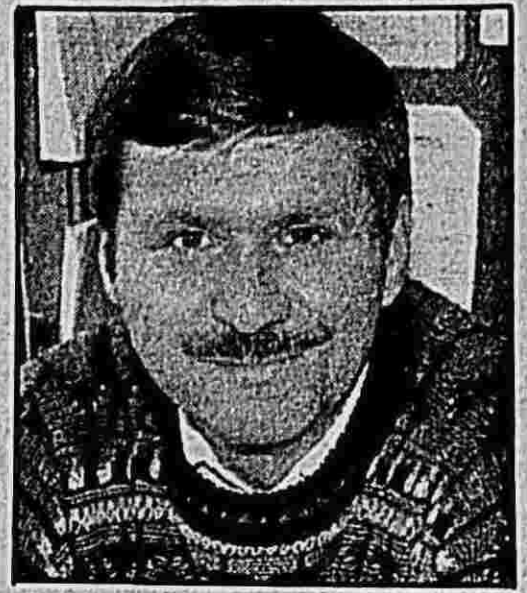

"The board this year will be one of the strongest the Chamber has ever had," predicted Klean. "I think we have done a heck of a job so far, but this year will be even better."

Klean has some big plans for 1994. He was to work on the completion of the industrial sign project and sign up all the companies in the industrial park for Chamber membership. Klean also has some ideas about Taste of Antioch this year.

"There will be a big difference in Taste of Antioch," explains Klean. "This year we will have a committee of restaurateurs involved in the program."

The board of directors for the Chamber include John McNeill, Mike Brink, Ed Cimaglio, and Ed Stanek. Klean is looking forward to working with the new officers and directors and plans to increase communications between the Chamber and business owners.

"Improved communications will be most important to us this year," said Klean. "By increasing involvement, we can make the Chamber stronger." —by MARY FOLEY

Seniors are welcome at drop-in Center

The Antioch Senior Center is a multi-purpose drop in center open Monday through Friday from 8:30 a.m. to 4 p.m. Anyone age 60 and over is welcome to attend. The center is administered by Catholic Charities with the support of the United Way, Federal Funding, the fundraising efforts of its members and the Village of Antioch, who owns and maintains the building.

Nutrition Services

A nutritious, balanced hot lunch is served at the center Monday through Friday at 11:45 a.m. Seniors are asked to sign up at least two days in advance. The cost of the meal is $1.50. The nutrition program is run primarily by senior volunteers who work in the kitchen, serve meals, help with registration and clean-up. The menu is published in local newspapers, the membership's monthly newspaper, and posted at the center.

In addition to the noon congregation meals program, a home delivered meal program operates out of the Antioch Senior Center. Eligible recipients living in Antioch receive a nutritious, balanced, and hot meal. The meals are delivered by volunteers at noon five days a week. For more information regarding the Home Delivered Meals program, call 546-5733.

Membership

Membership to the center is $5 a year. As a member, a senior will receive our monthly calendar and newsletter and the benefit of reduced rates on parties and other activities. Although membership support is encouraged, it is not mandatory and all seniors are welcome to participate in any center activity.

Volunteer opportunities

In an era of reduced resources for programs such as the ones offered at the center, fundraising and volunteer support become crucially important. Community support, in the form of donations and volunteer time, are vital to our effectiveness.

Transportation

Need a ride? Pace B us Systems will provide door-to-door service. Anyone living within the Antioch Township boundaries can purchase a round trip ticket for $1 a day.

Information

If you have questions or need additional information about any of the programs at the Antioch Senior Center, please call the Center at 395-7120.

Gear up for ice fishing festival

MARY FOLEY

Staff reporter

The 34th annual Ice Fishin' Derby and Winter Festival is only weeks away. On Feb. 12 and 13, thousands will be out on the Chain for kids games, ice skating, raffles, ice bowling, carnival games, penny raffle, pony rides, ice shanty contest, an auction, food and refreshments, and, of course, the fishing.

First, the fishing. For a registration fee for each entry of only $2, fishermen and fisherwomen can win thousands of prizes. The purchase of a ticket gives the buyer a chance to win one of 19 Grand Prizes with a combined value of $5,000. There will be winners of big and small fish with $1,550 prize money for derby winners. There will be a timed fishing challenge, and over 1,000 hourly fishing prizes.

Along with fishing, there will be an auction at derby headquarters, Wasz's Resort and Marina on Channel Lake. Included in the auction will be two mystery boxes with a minimum value of $250 each, fishing equipment, collectibles, a car (donated by Raymonds Chevrolet and Olds), and a boat (donated by Lake County Sheriff Clint Grinnel).

There will be food and refreshments available at all locations, which include the headquarters at Wasz's, and the satellite locations Pink Harrison's Resort on Pistakee Lake and Kempf's Resort on Petite Lake. Burgers, hot dogs, hot coffee, hot chocolate, breakfast sandwiches, pop, beer and so much more will be offered.

Children are not left out of the activities. There will be a children's auction in which only children can bid. Also, there will be free pony rides for the children, free kids games with prizes, along with ice skating and other activities.

All festival activities will take place at the derby headquarters, which is located nine miles west of I-94 off Route 173. Turn right on Lake Avenue and head north to Woodbine. Then, head east to Wasz's Resort and Marina.

The hourly Fishin' Prize donors include A.A. Anderson Heating and A/C, Antioch Gasket, Baker Marine Support, Mrs. Bill Brook, Chandler's Bait and Tackle, Debbies Evergreen Cafe, Depot Manufacturing, E.H. Glenn and Sons, Hebron Auto Salvage, Herb's Used Cars, J & R

Vending, Peter Lehmann, Lemke Builders and Home Improvements, Leo J. Fox Trucking and Excavating, Lyons-Ryan Ford/Lincoln/Mercury, Marty Schwind Greenhouse, Modern Home Products, Neurater's Restaurant, North American Taxidermy, Pink Harrison's Resort, Skach Manufacturing, Skipper Bud's Fox Lake, Spiro's East Marina, Superwash of McHenry, and Triangle Sports and Marine.

All the proceeds of the derby and festival go to the Northern Illinois Conservation Club (NICC). Donations are still needed for the auction and anyone wishing to donate new or good used merchandise should contact NICC at 395-NICC. Also, restaurant owners interested in becoming involved should contact NICC.

The 34th annual derby and festival promises to be the best ever. Derby tickets can be obtained from local businesses. The drawing of the main ticket will be on Sunday, Feb. 13 and will be drawn by Miss Antioch, Kelly Sullivan. The derby and festival hours are 8 a.m. to 4 p.m. on Saturday and 7 a.m. to 3 p.m. Sunday.

Riverboat talks not dead issue

TINA L. SWIECH

Staff Reporter

Regarding reports that riverboat gambling has resurfaced in Fox Lake, "It's never left," said Mayor Ken Hamsher.

"We've never given up (on getting a riverboat gambling license)," Hamsher said.

The issue was brought up at the Spring Grove village board meeting last week, and Village President Bob M. Martens related he doesn't have enough information about it to really comment.

"It came up with the village several months ago, and I took no position on it," said Martens.

"Now it is coming up again and it looks like many groups and municipalities have to review it," added the Spring Grove president.

However, "We're certainly concerned about environmental impact. Traffic and law enforcement needs to be looked at," Martens said.

In August, Lake County lost its chance at a license when it was granted to the city of Elgin. But according to Mayor Hamsher, one of his towns staunchest supporters, State Senator Adeline Geo-Karis is working on Springfield for two in Lake County—one in Fox Lake and the other in Waukegan.

"She is one hundred percent for it," said Hamsher. The Fox Lake mayor said that he is keeping a positive attitude that his village will get a riverboat gambling license. "There's a very excellent chance of it," Hamsher announced.

"We meet the criteria. We always have." Mayor Hamsher noted things like economy, areas that are targets for more jobs, and tourism all can be found in Fox Lake.

Waterway vote won't raise tax

TINA L. SWIECH

Staff Reporter

"Before they make up their minds about anything, people should open up and listen" to the waterway agency's explanation of a referendum to be on the March 15 ballot, stated Woodrow "Woody" Boedecker.

Boedecker, chairman of the Lake County branch of Concerned Citizens for the Continuation of the Agency committee, said he can't stress enough that people have to be attentive to words from the Chain

O' Lakes Fox River Waterway Agency about what the referendum is all about.

A sunset clause will end the agency's existence at the end of this year, but if the referendum gets passed, it will again be operational.

Explaining that absolutely no real estate tax comes from residents pockets to keep the agency functional, Boedecker said instead the money to help fund the waterway agency comes out of the user fees from boat stickers purchased.

Boedecker also announced a new secretary for the CCCA's Lake County branch. Cyndi Collins, a Realtor from Realty World Tiffany in Antioch, has volunteered to take minutes of all CCCA meetings so that Boedecker and Co-chairman Pete Jakstas can conduct meetings.

The next meeting to take place will be Jan. 20 at 7:30 p.m. in the Worthmoor subdivision. Part of the 105-home development is in McHenry County and part in Lake County, said Boedecker.

Agency praises Corps, Corps returns kudos

A report with praise was given by Chairman of the Chain O' Lakes Fox River Waterway Management Agency, Dr. William C. Dam.

Dam said Environmental Impact Study hearings held in Woodstock and Grant Community High School over the past few months have been "very valuable" and he thanked the U.S. Army Corps.

Lt. Colonel David Reed of the Corps of Engineers (COE) spoke highly of the waterway agency at the hearings, said Dam, and Reed emphasized that the agency is the entity to accomplish the dredging and should be supported by all concerned.

Chairman Dam said that he is very pleased with the cooperation received from the Corps of Engineers, Department of Water Resources, Department of Conservation, the legislators and others, and the continued strong support of the waterway agency in the up and coming referendum.

On March 15, ballots will hold the future for the agency's existence, due to a 10-year clause.

Hearing on Hainesville ballpark dead

A ballpark on the north end of Hainesville withdrew its petition to rezone 10-additional acres around the park, therefore a Jan. 14 scheduled hearing was cancelled.

Calling it "moot at this point" because of the withdrawal, Village Attorney Andrew Lynch explained that objections were filed regarding the rezoning, from two different sources.

Deer Point Trails and the Grayslake Gelatin Company both filed formal objections maintaining issues such as an expanded SoftBall City would adversely affect the value of property and also the two claim technical problems which would result.

Deer Point is adjacent to the southeast portion of the park, and the Gelatin Company is owner to acres of land on the northwest part.—by TINA L. SWIECH

Wild Willie saves Johnsburg sled

With nothing but a safety line around his waist, big wild Willie Frazee attempted the arduous in order to save the sleds.

With a temperature of seven degrees below zero, not to mention any wind-chill factors, "Seawalls by Willie" Frazee donning a drysuit cut a hole in the ice with chainsaw in hand.

His helper, Brian Sindah, at the other end of the rope, stood cautiously on the frozen Fox River near Chapel Hill Rd. in Johnsburg while Frazee became immersed in the icy waters.

The snowmobile was located, and was pulled up out of the watery grave, making Frazee a few extra bucks.

The Spring Grove man has to have something to do in the winter months when he can't be installing or removing piers, shore stations, and seawalls.

Frazee will be the first to admit that it's not a glamorous position. "It's hard and it's not pleasant," said Frazee. Then, besides earning a little green when the white flakes are falling, why does he do it?

"I like spitting in Mother Nature's eye," answered the official member of the Coney Island Polar Bear club.

Originally from upstate New York, Frazee remembers when he used to dive into Lake George in winter weather. And he remembers when he used to have a similar sled-service in his hometown, diving in and pulling out snowmobiles that went astray.

Just back from a two-week trip to New York, Frazee has pulled out at least a half-dozen sleds on the unpredictable lakes and river so far this year.

If they choose, customers may also have their once sunken snowmobiles dried out. This takes about three days to do, Frazee explained.

For piers, shore stations or seawalls, or for assistance in recovering your sunken snowmobile, call Frazee at (708) 587-3028.

Ingleside P.O. to become branch

TINA L. SWIECH

Staff Reporter

"It's not gonna close. It's just not gonna happen," assured temporary Postmaster of the Ingleside Post Office Frank Schuster.

Continuing rumors of the Ingleside Post Office closing, has prompted Schuster to deny allegations.

Concerns from an organization called NAPUS (National Association of Postmasters of the United States) have been buzzing.

According to Schuster the group is mainly concerned because an official "postmaster" will be lost at the Ingleside office.

Steven Sbarbaro, director of the Carol Stream postal service said there hasn't been a real postmaster in Ingleside since 1991.

It is estimated the office will become an of-shoot of Fox Lake as early as August or September of this year, said the Ingleside head. Sbarbaro, however, said that dates on that happening aren't definite yet.

Sbarbaro admitted that the Ingleside post office may or may not close completely, someday, after the new Fox Lake Post Office is built. But a date on that happening isn't definite yet either.

"It's a long way down the road. If Fox Lake keeps growing like it is, it may be better to keep both," said Sbarbaro.

Schuster will remain as officer in charge of the station, even when the Ingleside location officially becomes a branch of the Fox Lake Post Office.

Schuster will no longer have the title "postmaster" however he will remain the head of the Ingleside station.

A notice will be posted at the Ingleside building until March 11 informing the news of the consolidation to customers.

If anyone has questions or comments, they may fill out a form and hand it in to the postmaster, said Schuster.

Health care plan flawed says Crane

by STEVE PETERSON
Staff Reporter

Congressman Phil Crane (R-Wauconda) criticized a proposed health care plan by President Clinton and defended his own record as he seeks re-election.

Crane was the keynote speaker at the North Shore Printing House Craftsman annual dinner.

"I think Americans are basically pleased. Let's address the problems and not flush the system and put our faith in Washington D.C. to provide answers to our problems. That is not confined to health care," Crane told the Gurnee audience.

He said the "hit" on small business from health care reform is $350 billion over the next five years and three million jobs.

"That exceeds the biggest tax increase in history," Crane said. "If you are privately insured, it will cost you $2 for $1 of health care."

The long-time conservative said the chances of health care laws are slim because this is an election year.

Crane hit what he sees as the bureaucratic nature of the health care reform, including a national health care board.

He described welfare reform reform as an "overriding issue."

"Their case is a total distortion on one hand and has the potential to throw out the finest health care program that exists on the face of this Earth. The so-called crisis is a total misnomer. The highest percentage report in 1984 of people uninsured is 15.9 percent. It has been going down steadily since. It is about 14.7 percent. We just set a record in the total number of Americans insured last year. Annual inflation costs peaked in 1990," Crane said.

Last year, it dropped to 5.6 percent from 9 percent a few years ago.

"We are making progress in all these areas in the absence of government reform," Crane said.

He said 70 percent of the 37,000 quoted as uninsured for 9 months or less. Some 19 percent are chronically uninsured. "They are above the poverty line, but not making enough money they feel they can go out and get health insurance. That is an area that should be addressed," Crane said. "You don't throw the baby out with the garbage."

Crane said Republican initiatives do address these problems.

One is the standardization of forms and another pooling for insurance and also malpractice reform.

This results in defensive medicine, 15 percent of total health care costs, Crane said.

The talk was an abbreviated one to about 50 gathered for the club's annual dinner as part of international printing week through Jan. 22.

It turned to politics, as Crane is fighting to keep the Congressional seat he has held for 20 years. Three others are fighting to unseat him. Crane received a blow when Palatine Township endorsed Patrick Fitzgerald, a one-time Crane staffer.

"It will be tough sledding. I've lost some key support. It will be a challenge. We have a lot of dedicated folks who has done that for me (raise money) and that is what I am counting on. In politics, it is not as complicated as it sounds. If every person brought two others to the polls, you win," Crane said.

Later, he said the key issue would be his most fiscally responsible voting record.

Lake County township GOP precincts have come out in favor of Crane.

"The population might not be in Lake County compared to Cook, but Lake County tend to come out in primaries and vote," he said.

Congressman Phil Crane addresses the North Shore Printing House Craftsman annual dinner.

Grayslake Downtown plan underway

MARY FOLEY and SUZIE REED
Staff writers

The Grayslake downtown plan is finally underway. A meeting was to be held on Wednesday for the business owners to discuss the formation of a Downtown Merchants Association. The village is planning to assist in the group's formation and is also considering the creation of a downtown director's position.

The Village of Grayslake went to the drawing board more than two years ago and has developed an ambitious concept plan that includes parking, streetscape and landscape improvements and replacing the street lights with historic copies.

"We want to return to the more historic character of the buildings," said Village Manager Mike Ellis. "We will also provide architectural assistance."

The economic development commission is considering a low-interest loan pool for businesses wishing to make structural improvements. Also, a special taxing district will be established. The village board has decided to begin work on capital improvements on the street right-of-ways.

Improvements in the right-of-ways will be done according to type rather than district location. The total cost of the improvements will be approximately $2.5 million. These improvements include sidewalks, curb islands, streetscaping, underground utilities, bike paths, and storm sewer improvements.

The Grayslake Village Board recently confirmed the purchase of the empty lot next to the drug store on Center Street. According to Mayor Pat Carey, the purchase of the lot is an important step in the kickoff of the downtown plan.

"The purchase of the lot is an integral part of the plan," explained Carey. "It is necessary in order to create walkways to the parking areas."

With all that is going on in Grayslake, a revitalized downtown is just around the corner.

Antioch boys must guard against Fenton's rally bids

There seems to be a pattern when Fenton battles area North Suburban Conference teams.

The Bison fall behind by double digits, but rally and win or at least put a scare into the opposition. Antioch experienced that first-hand as the Bison roared back from an 18-point deficit to win 51-49. Warren also experienced a Fenton rally from 14 points to 2 in the final two minutes before losing by one.

Antioch (4-13, 0-8 NSC) is at Fenton Jan. 21 at 7:30 p.m. in Bensenville.

"Fenton is a scrappy team. You have to watch Petrovich (Tony) and Bryan Scott is a player," Antioch Coach Jeff Dresser said.

Antioch was dismissed by mighty Mundelein 83-65, but rallied with a strong effort against contender Zion-Benton, losing 55-51.

"We did not give them the three-pointer and we did not let them spot up and shoot," Dresser said of the Zion game.

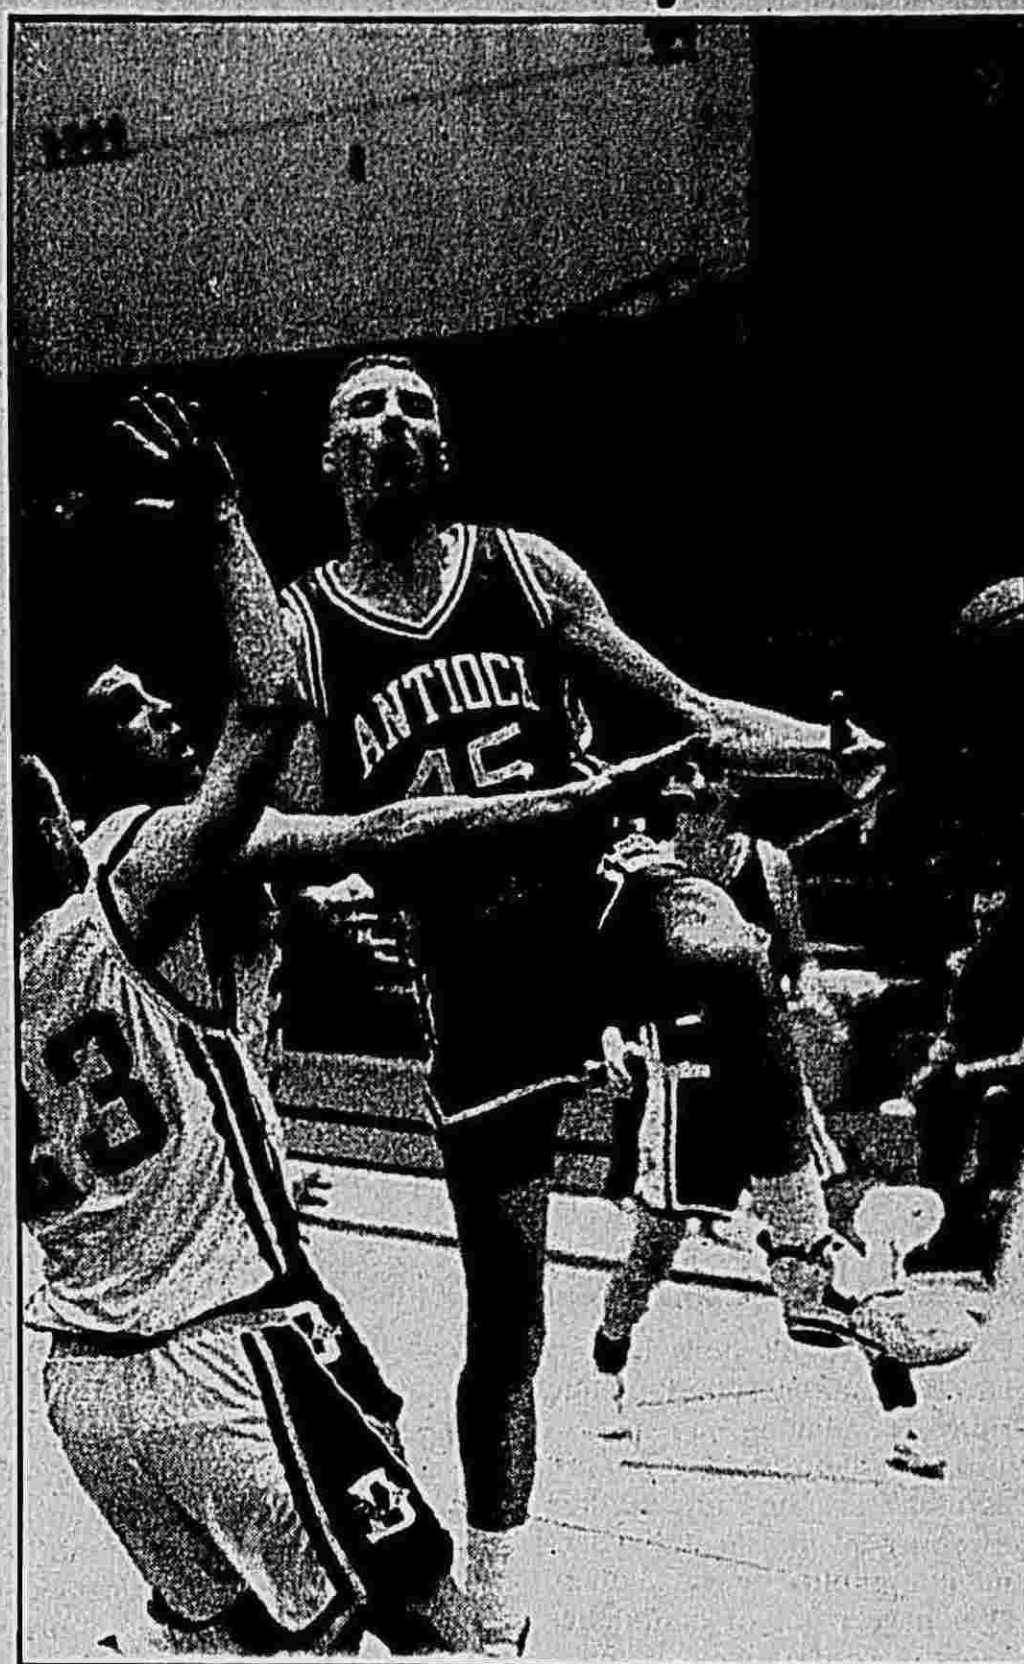

Antioch was led by a monster game from Eric Eckenstahler. The 6-7 forward scored 31 points, had 13 rebounds and 7 blocked shots. This after being held to 9 points by Mundelein.

"Every game is different. He relaxed and let the game come to him. It was one of his better games," Dresser said.

Antioch could not overcome a 13-2 Zion advantage in free throws. "I was disappointed we did not get to the line more," Dresser said.

Zion stayed in second place with the win at 7-1 NSC. Standout Greg Adams led the effort with 18 points.

Kyle Kessel proved just too much for Antioch, scoring 32 points. Kessel started the route with two of his five three-pointers and had 11 free throws.

Sequoit grapplers ready, conquer Pats

Antioch High's wrestling team pointed to the North Suburban Conference dual with Stevenson as important step in their quest for a conference title.

Coach Ted Sieckowski described his team as "pumped up" for the match, but knew the first three weight classes would be important. After Chris Petykowski won a 3-0 decision at 119 pounds, the Sequoits were on their way to a 47-13 romp.

"We really prepared them for this week. I thought it was going to be closer, but the kids were so pumped up," Sieckowski said.

The win improves Antioch to 9-5 overall, 5-0 in the NSC. Antioch hosted Mundelein and Johnsbury Jan. 20 before traveling to Zion-Benton to take on North Chicago as well Jan. 21.

Lucas Dyer started the match well at Stevenson with a 4-3 win at 103. Earning pins for Antioch were:

Steve Zalopi at 125 in 5:01; Tony Patterson in 3:39 at 135; Jim Stevens in 5:40 at 140 and Chris Haag in 1:56 at 189.

Decision winners for Antioch were: Jason Krause, 9-2 at 130; Jason Breen 20-12 major decision at 145 and Joe Earl, 15-1 major decision at 152. Joe Marcomb won by forfeit at heavyweight.

Antioch had two wrestlers closing in on 20 wins after the Stevenson match. Haag improved to 19-6 with nine falls and Ryan Shea was 19-3 with 11 falls.

Lucas Dyer was 15-10 with eight falls; Petykowski 15-9 with nine falls; Zalopi was 14-6 with five falls; Kruse 13-9 with five falls.

Breen was 12-10 but did not have any falls. "He has a difficult time pinning people, but he is a brutal wrestler," Sieckowski said.

Libertyville defeats Enigma in soccer championships

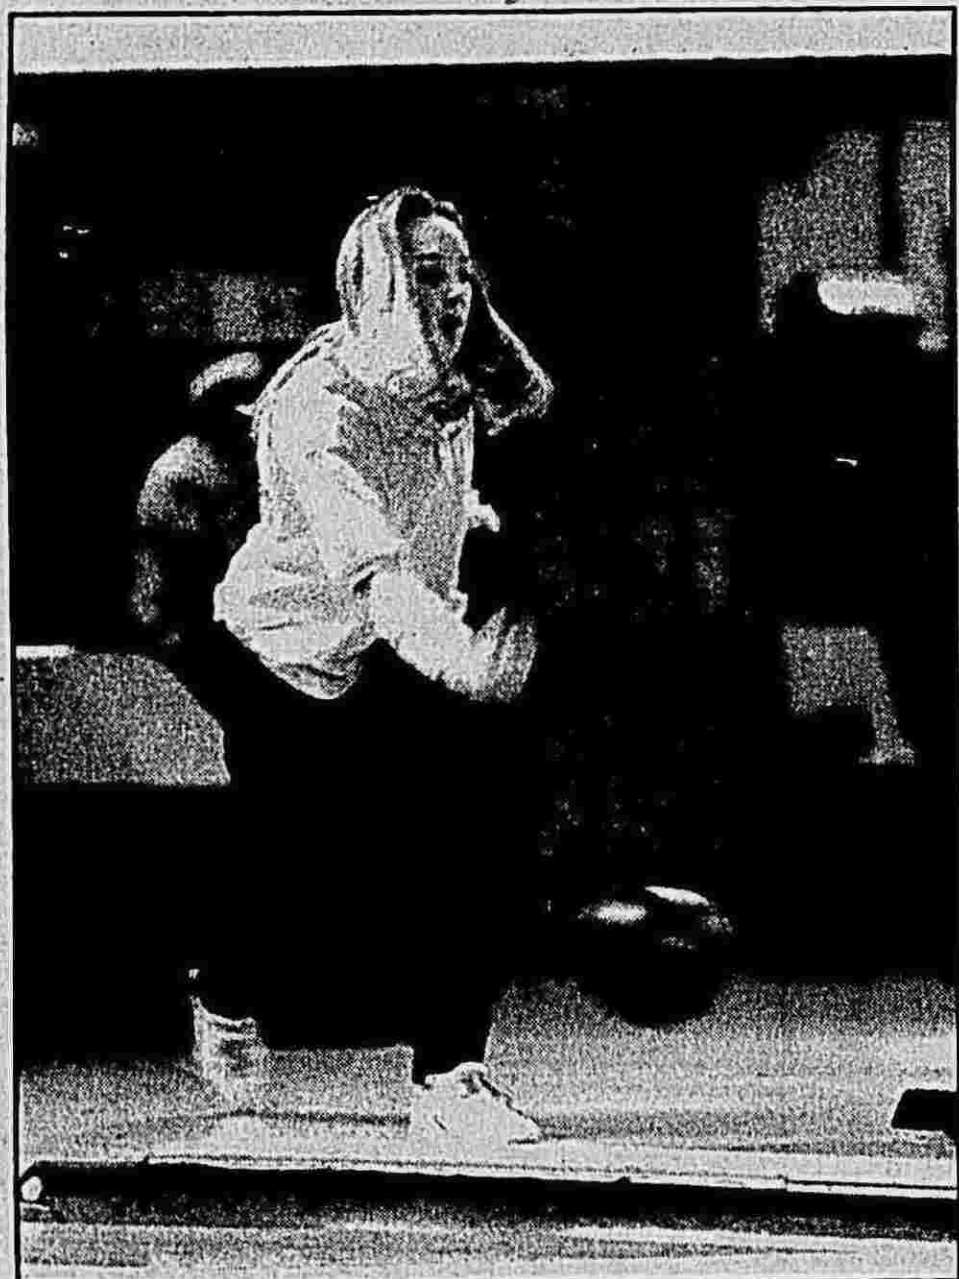

The Lindenhurst Enigma, Girls U-19, went into their final indoor soccer game playing Libertyville for the Division Championship. It was a hard fought game with Libertyville coming out on top of a 2-1 score.

The first half ended with the Enigma ahead 1-0. The Enigma had several quality scoring opportunities with several balls bouncing off the uprights and crossbar. The goal was scored by Tanya Weivel on a hard shot from about 12 yards out.

The remainder of the game was highlighted by strong mid-field play on the part of both teams. Although Goalkeeper Angel Giangiorgi made several nice saves, Libertyville was able to score two goals in the second half to take the victory. Other players with strong performances included Heidi Landshoff, Kelly Landgren, Jaimee Porter and Jaimee Rinehart.

The Enigma ended their indoor season in second place with a 7-1-1 record. The girls will now be idle in team play until next fall's travel season.

Pak, Kerns gain title crowns, team rates 5th

Grayslake wrestlers Joe Kerns and Eddie Pak took on five opponents in one day in what was described as a "brutal" tourney at Jacobs.

The results were satisfying, though, as the Rams gained titles at 140 and 152 pounds, respectively.

"They gained a lot of experience. Kerns beat a Chicago Bogan wrestler who was ranked fourth in the state and qualified for the state finals last year," Coach Eric Skoog said.

Kerns, 20-2 overall, is especially tough when he is starting from the bottom position, Skoog said. The 140 pound weight class represented a weight class higher than usual for the Grayslake junior.

Pak, 19-3 overall, is adjusting well to his new weight class, 152 pounds, Skoog said.

"Pak has been working on his attacks a lot," Skoog said.

Both wrestlers notched two pins at the Bad Mark tournament.

Grayslake was fifth in the team scoring.

Brian Wagner (189) finished second. Wagner improved to 4-1.

One wrestler showing promise, Skoog said, is Chip Jensen, who was third at 135 pounds.

"Despite our unbeaten record in conference, we will have to concentrate on individuals until the regional tournament," Skoog said.

The Rams return to conference action with a dual meet at Grant Jan. 26.

Sequoit gymnasts fall shy in meet

Antioch High's girls gymnastics team dropped a non-conference match with Regina last week.

The Sequoits fell 133.3 - 119.5.

Brandi Houle notched a first and two seconds for Antioch.

She was second in the uneven parallel bars with an 8.7 and in the vault with an 8.5. She won the floor exercise with a 9.2 to cap her night. She was second in the all-around with a 34.0.

Heather Henchen was third with a 7.8 in the uneven parallel bars. Heidi Wirtz tied for third in all-around with a 30.2, gained a third in floor exercise with an 8.1.

Sara Lutz tied Houle for third in the balance beam with a 7.6.

Antioch returns to North Suburban Conference action Jan. 22 when the Sequoits host Fenton. The Sequoits, in fact, complete their season at home, Jan. 24 against Lake Zurich and Jan. 26 against Stevenson.

Sponholtz leads Grayslake

Grayslake High's boys basketball returned to its comfort zone Friday - playing against a Northwest Suburban Conference basketball foe. The Rams handled Johnsburg 63-43 as a strong second quarter blew the game open. "We have a lot of confidence against conference teams," Coach Greg Groth said.

Geoff Sponholtz led the Rams with 19 points and was chairman of the board with 11 rebounds. Junior Dave Mandralla had 15.

The Skyhawks came into the game in second place in the NWSC at 4-2 and looked like a challenge was at hand for the front-runners. Jeff Loser (11 points) sparked an eight-point first quarter run. The visitors trailed 10-8 after one.

Changes were made defensively and the Rams were not about to let the trip to Johnsburg on the coldest night in years go for naught. A 19-10 second quarter surge put this one away.

The Rams were coming off a 13-point loss to area power Mundelein.

"We had a good game in spurts. The important thing is to keep improving," Groth said. The Rams improved to double digit wins at 10-5 overall.

Free-throw shooting touch returned for the Rams. After making only five against Mundelein, the Rams made 21 at Johnsburg.

Rob Fehling had 11 for Johnsburg (7-6, 4-3).

Grayslake is at lowly Wauconda (0-7 league) Jan. 21 at 7 p.m. before taking on second-place Grant Jan. 25 at 7 p.m. at Grant.

Grant is led by 6-5 twin towers Mike Ingram and Kurt Filiatreault. Grayslake won by 20 first round. The Bulldogs are coming off a 60-57 win over Round Lake.

Shutout quarter leads sophs

The old adage of you have a good chance to win if the opponent does not score came true for the Grayslake sophomore basketball team Friday.

The Rams held Johnsburg scoreless in the first quarter and built up a 25-0 lead en route to a 54-23 win.

"Two weeks before Christmas, we had been playing flat, but we are playing with a lot of confidence now," Coach Troy Harper said.

The win was the third in two weeks for the Rams, who are in second in the Northwest Suburban Conference.

Mike Miller and Luke Krohn had eight each for Grayslake.

"All 14 kids have been working hard in practice. We have had a balanced attack," Harper said.

Brian Witt had 16 and Miller 15 in a win over Mundelein. Miller had 21 in a win over Round Lake. The sophs are 8-4, 4-2 NWSC. Johnsburg had defeated Grayslake in the first round. The sophomores are at Wauconda at 5:30 p.m. Jan. 21.

Antioch looking for upset

Warren Township High School's girls basketball team had planned to take some time off to bone up for finals.

Instead, what the team and all of Lake County received was bone-chilling temperatures which forced postponement of games.

Antioch, then, could be more in the groove when the two teams clash Jan. 22 at Warren. The Sequoits were scheduled to make-up a game with mighty Libertyville while Warren had just one game in the past week.

"We have to get going again and build from there. We have to get better because other teams are getting better. The second half will be a lot more difficult," Warren Coach Bruce Campbell said.

The Blue Devils are 13-3 overall, 6-2 NSC and would be the top in most counties had it not be for two state-ranked teams above them, Stevenson and Libertyville. The other loss came at the hands of another Chicago area power, Buffalo Grove.

Guard Lisa Sinnokrak is out with a knee injury suffered in a one-point loss to Libertyville.

Soph guard Julie Minuskin leads the county with a 23-point-per-game scoring average. Senior Erin Webster and Erin Habegger lead the rebounding efforts.

Antioch's (2-7 NSC, 6-12 overall) had a highlight last week in a 40-24 win over Zion.

Leading the way for Antioch was Rachel Hauser with 11 points.

Antioch gave Warren a scare in the first round, losing 61-54 in overtime. Mandy Jacobsen, who scored 18 points the first game, will miss Saturday's 2:30 p.m. game due to being out of the area.

"That will hurt us, but we will be ready for them. We have to find a way to stop Minuskin and to score against their zone. Warren, Stevenson and Libertyville are the top three teams in the conference," Antioch Coach Dave Woods said.

Woods was pleased with the effort against Zion and Fenton, a 47-34 loss.

"We stress playing four solid quarters and we played three against Zion," Woods said. "That was the first time we had good balanced scoring."

Amy Leiber had 9 and three players had six.

Gooch led the Sequoits efforts against Fenton with 13 points.

"We just started slow down there. The game was a lot closer than the final score indicated," Woods said.

Bowlers gearing up for post-season

The site may have been Bensenville instead of Rockford, but high school girls bowling fans had an opportunity to see some of the best in the state Saturday at Fenton's invitational.

"It was a preview of the state meet," Warren Coach Bob Tatgenhorst said.

The Blue Devils gained a fifth-place finish with 5,006 pins. Antioch finished in the top 10 with 4,894 and Libertyville was 14th. Lake Park won the meet with 5,356.

Arleen Hidalgo led the Warren effort with a 1,165 pin day, good enough for fourth. Lisa Anderson of Antioch was 19th with 1,033.

"Arleen had to come on strong in the last game," Tatgenhorst said.

"We had a bad start - 20th after five rounds - but we moved up to eighth. We would have been a lot better off if we had not given up 200 to 300 pins," Antioch Coach Elliott Hoffeditz said.

Junior Jeannine Olsen has been consistent, the coach said. Olsen had a 552 series in a loss to Fenton in a dual meet.

"She has good consistent form," Hoffeditz said.

Warren beat Stevenson 2,453-1,947. Heidi Balmes had a 538 as Warren improved to 9-1 overall.

Antioch battled Grant in the final regular season battle before hosting the NSC at Antioch Lanes Jan. 28. The Feb. 4 sectional meet will also be at Antioch. The state meet is Feb. 11 at Rockford.

"Having it at your place is always an advantage," Hoffeditz said.

Stars gain second win, 5-3

The Lindenhurst Stars (U-13) came from behind to win their second straight game, this time by a score of 5-3 over the Buffalo Grove Strikers.

Trailing 3-2 at halftime the Stars defense (Katie Gofron, Becky Sosnowski, Sarah Rimkus, Emily Ayre, Amie Carlsberg and Emmy Kane) shut down the Strikers giving the offense time to score three unanswered goals.

Goals were scored by Samie Korbal (2), Mandy Fasano (2), and Megs-Kotlarz (1). A strong game in goal was had by Susan Gosciniak with help from Sarah Rimkus. A good game was also had by Natalie Richter.

The 2-0 Stars play at Poplar Creek Sports Centre-Hoffman Estates.

Power ends season with victory

The Lindenhurst Power, Girls U-13, ended their indoor season on a high note with a 5-1 victory over Deerfield Pegasus.

Lindenhurst took a 3-0 halftime lead with goals scored by Jamie Wismer (2) and Maureen Moran, on assists from Jourdan Phillips (2) and Tracie Foster. Excellent defensive play by Nicci Estep, Reilly Fenters and Jenny Porter kept the Deerfield team off balance and prevented them from mounting any real scoring threats.

The Deerfield team came on very strong, in the second half, actually out shooting Lindenhurst 8-6. They were finally able to score cutting the lead to 3-1 before Lindenhurst added two more goals on long distance shots scored by Sarah Richardson and Tracie Foster. The goalkeeping duties were shared by Jennie Barbera and Kristina Giangiorgi.

The Lindenhurst Power ended their season at Highland Park Soccer Enterprises in third place with a 3-3-2 record. They will now take the rest of the winter off awaiting the start of the spring outdoor season.

Libertyville defeats Enigma in championships

The Lindenhurst Enigma, Girls U-19, went into their final indoor soccer game playing Libertyville for the Division Championship. It was a hard fought game with Libertyville coming out on top of a 2-1 score.

The first half ended with the Enigma ahead 1-0. The Enigma had several quality scoring opportunities with several balls bouncing off the uprights and crossbar. The goal was scored by Tanya Weivel on a hard shot from about 12 yards out.

The remainder of the game was highlighted by strong mid-field play on the part of both teams. Although Goalkeeper Angel Giangiorgi made several nice saves, Libertyville was able to score two goals in the second half to take the victory. Other players with strong performances included Heidi Landshoff, Kelly Landgren, Jaimee Porter and Jaimee Rinehart.

The Enigma ended their indoor season in second place with a 7-1-1 record. The girls will now be idle in team play until next fall's travel season.

-LAKE COUNTY ISSUES-

ALEC JUNG
Staff writer

Lake County police chiefs are forming a regional task force to tackle the gang problem. The hope is that shared information will reduce gang activity.

Mundelein Police Chief Ray Rose says the task force will save police departments because they won't have to pay overtime. All departments can share information on a consistent basis.

"Now is the time; we have a window of opportunity," Rose said. "While the weather is bad we have the advantage to create a strategy before the spring."

Rose said the issue is recognizing gangs as a regional and countywide problem rather than a local problem.

"The gang problem isn't a Mundelein and a Waukegan problem. We have to deal with it in a regional perspective. Gangs don't stop at community boundaries," Rose said.

Attending the first meeting were 72 law enforcement officials from 29 different agencies. Included in the officials was Lake County States Attorney Michael Waller.

The plan involves taking one officer from a community and training him as the gang specialist. The theory is to provide consistent training, especially on information gathering, so all departments in the task force are on the same page.

Gary Kupsak, Vernon Hills police chief, said he supports the task force but is unsure of the scope and the coordination of it.

"You need a group to coordinate the efforts of all departments," Kupsak said the advantage of the force would be sharing of information between departments to better track gang members.

"It has to be addressed. It's not going to go away," said Jack McKeever, Lindenhurst police chief, of gang activity.

"The officer goes back to the community and shares the information with the officer on the street who is likely to come in contact with the gang members," Rose said.

Another advantage is sharing a group of police officers who can be on call in case a possible gang incident may occur.

The increased presence should create an awareness for gang members also. "When a Waukegan gang member sees a Waukegan officer in Mundelein it's going to be unsettling to him," Rose said.

Rose said there is no uniformity or an area-wide approach for sharing information. Increased cooperation should reduce the tolerance of gangs.

County framework plan ready

Correspondent

Lake County residents will have a chance to voice concerns and complaints about transportation problems and other issues at public hearings to update Lake County's Framework Plan.

The Framework Plan, which directly governs all unincorporated areas and is advisory to all incorporated areas, is the County's comprehensive agenda governing all land use, public facility and social service policies.

More specifically, the Framework Plan addresses four key issues:

Transportation problems linked to increased job growth and population, protecting Lake County's natural beauty and remaining rustic appearance, community character and urban design concerns, and land use decisions related to maintaining solid tax bases.

The hearings will be conducted by Lake County Regional Residents to provide input

Planning Commission representatives at various Lake County towns starting this week.

Barbara Berlin, principal planner at the Department of Planning, Zoning & Environmental Quality, which prepares the Framework Plan, urges Lake County residents, especially those living in growing and changing communities, to attend the hearings.

"[We want] to offer an opportunity for public input... and for people to share comments," Berlin said.

What Berlin calls the "jobs-housing-transportation connection" refers to transportation problems caused by continuous job growth and increases in population.

"The Lake County population has grown since 1970, and the growth of jobs relative to the population has been faster. Because of this, there are transportation problems because we have many people driving [to jobs] within Lake County, but also people driving in from outside Lake County. We are an importer of jobs," Berlin said.

Berlin stated that maintaining Lake County's remaining natural beauty and rustic appearance, in the face of increased numbers of houses and businesses being built in the area, is a serious concern not only to current residents but also to people who are considering moving to the area.

"People who come here like the fact there is a rural appearance to this county," Berlin said.

Community character and urban design focuses on the planning associated with the layout of a town's public facilities.

Berlin maintains this is a larger concern than commonly believed and pertains not just to urban areas such as Waukegan, but to any community.

"People want their communities to have character. They want their communities to stand out from others," Berlin said.

Decisions and policies involving the balance between land-use and the need to maintain solid tax-bases are also important.

"For example, it [a community] may not want another shopping mall, but an area may need it to support the local tax base," Berlin said.

The remaining hearing schedule is as follows: Thursday, Jan. 20: Gurnee Village Hall, 325 N. O'Plaine Road, Gurnee; Tuesday, Jan. 25: Antioch Township Hall, 874 Main St., Antioch; Wednesday, Jan. 26: Lake County Administration Building, 10th Floor Assembly Room, 18 N. County St., Waukegan; and Thursday, Jan. 27: Lincolnshire Village Hall, 1 Olde Half Day Road, Lincolnshire.

The Regional Planning Commission, consists of 15 members and oversees preparation of the Framework Plan by the Department of Planning, Zoning & Environmental Quality.

Dangerous temperatures close schools

The intensely cold weather forced school closings throughout the county Tuesday. The only school to open was Zion-Benton Township High School, which held classes after a morning delay, according to Edward Gonwa, Regional Superintendent of Schools.

Each school district can make the decision to cancel school in case of emergencies such as flood, snow, or severe cold, which might impair the ability of buses to pick up students, said Gonwa, adding that excessively cold wind chills make it dangerous for children to walk to school.

Adding to the danger were many school districts which experienced problems from inadequate heating to busted water pipes.

School calendars have five snow days built in to accommodate these emergencies. —by BILL DERMODY, JR.

AT A GLANCE

Volo gets a village hall

Volo—Trustee Bill Grams announced that the newest village in the county, but actually one of the oldest communities has a building where it can hold meetings. Fran Havemeyer, owner of Havemeyer's Drapery Shoppe has been gracious enough to loan a room at her business located on Old Volo Village Rd. (old Rte. 120), one mile west of Rte. 12. Village meetings are held every second Thursday at 7:30 p.m.

Choral Dynamics winter show

LIBERTYVILLE—Among the songs to be performed at the 25th anniversary winter show of Choral Dynamics is their new theme song "We Love Singing for You," written by Joy Sanford of Gurnee. "Timeless Love Songs" will include perennial Broadway favorites, current film blockbusters, all-time classics in eight-part harmony, and powerful arrangements of the best in 20th century music. The show will be performed at 8 p.m. Jan. 22 and 23 in the Butler Auditorium in Libertyville High School.

Board approves new entry system

ANTIOCH—The Antioch Village Board has approved a lower priced entry system for the Antioch Fire Department. Instead of the $51,000 leased program, the board has decided to go with a $13,000 key tag entry system that the village and district would own.

Rezoning for ballpark dead issue

HAINESVILLE—According to reports, about 60 people showed up at a hearing to be held at the village hall regarding Softball City rezoning 10-additional acres around the park. Feeling pressure from objections, the softball park withdrew their petition so the meeting was never held Jan. 14. Calling it "moot at this point" because of the withdrawal, Village Attorney Andrew Lynch explained that objections were filed regarding the rezoning, from two different sources. These were Deer Point trails and the Grayslake Gelatin Company who both own land around the ballpark.

Project C.A.P.E. to meet

MUNDELEIN—Community leaders, residents, educators, legislators and village officials will come together Saturday at St. Mary of the Lake Seminary for Project C.A.P.E. (Creating a Positive Environment) in Mundelein. More than 300 invitations have been sent out and the list of acceptances keeps growing. Mundelein police Chief Raymond Rose said he expects at least 150 people to participate in the event. Organizers hope that this meeting will inspire a momentum that will result in bringing the community together for the success of the five-year vision.

BB gun discharged at school

ANTIOCH—The rumor there was gunfire at the Antioch Community High School is not true. While there was an incident on Wednesday, Jan. 12, a BB gun, not a handgun was involved. Jason Gifford, age 18, of Antioch has been charged with aggravated battery and unlawful use of a weapon and Joshua Johnson, age 20, of Fox Lake has been charged with reckless conduct arising out of the incident.

SAVE YOUR FAMILY TIME AND MONEY

Do you know what "probate" is? It is the court process by which debts are paid and assets are distributed to heirs.

When you consider the cost of a will and the fees involved in probate, as compared to setting up a living trust, the trust is a much more reasonable choice. It saves not only money, but time. Your heirs will not have to wait six, nine, or twelve months to receive what you have left them.

In Illinois, probate is required when the assets total over $50,000. The probate process can be quite costly, reducing the amount of assets that heirs receive. Attorney's fees, court costs and executor's fees can reduce assets that go to the heirs by as much as 10%. There is also a time delay, because the minimum amount of time that an estate would be tied up in probate court in Illinois is six months, but normally probate takes nine to twelve months, and sometimes longer.

What can you do now so that your loved ones can avoid the costly and frustrating probate process? You can attend a FREE ESTATE PLANNING SEMINAR and learn how a living trust can work for your family. A living trust can be defined in simple terms as a will substitute, one that allows your heirs to avoid meeting a probate judge. As the trustee (financial manager) of your trust, you can continue to do the same things you did before the trust existed, such as buy, sell, or give away the trusts' assets. You set up your living trust according to your desires. You are in complete control.

Chain O' Lakes Shrine Club installs new officers

TINA L. SWIECH

Staff Reporter

A branch of a longtime organization which helps the less fortunate has announced new officers.

Some of the 240-member Chain O' Lakes Shrine Club installed fresh faces to various posts at the Wyncourt Restaurant in Wauconda.

Fox Lake Village Trustee Darwin Follman has been a Shriner for more than 27 years, and helped to coordinate the night of new titles.

Follman was also formally given the appointment as the Chief of the Fire Marching Unit for Shriner's parades.

Head of Chicagoland Shriners who came straight from the Medinah Temple was Potentate William Bock. The potentate or president, lead the swearing-in of all new officials for 1994.

Wauconda resident Kenneth McGill was deemed the new president of the Chain O' Lakes branch. The First Vice-president is now Jack Forney of Libertyville; the Second Vice-president is Wayne Preston of Antioch; Dennis C. Lake of Round Lake was given the title of Third Vice-president; the Secretary for the club is Robert Hansen of Lake Villa; and the Treasurer is now Joseph Titus of Antioch.

New club directors include Lindenhurst resident George Nelson, Frank Johnson of Lake Villa, William Wilton of Antioch, John Peter Corell of Barrington, and Fox Lake resident George Buzas.

Follman explained that the majority of the club member's work goes to helping the famous Shriner's Children's Hospital in Oak Park.

Throughout the country there are about eight such hospitals, said Follman, and they deal with helping and healing children who suffer from bone defects. Much research is done on the illness by Shriner hospital doctors and scientists.

Also the clubs participate in about 14 parades internationally and locally throughout the year, said the Fox Lake trustee.

And of course, who could forget the big circus at the Medinah Temple in Chicago that runs from Feb. 27 through March 15. The club treats roughly 1,200 kids a year to the event, and money made goes into the hospital.

Six workshops, a panel discussion and networking opportunities for individuals concerned about the well being of Lake County's children will be featured at the Fighting Back Project's Expo '94.

The event will be from 8 a.m. to 3:30 p.m. Saturday, Jan. 22 at the Port O' Call at the Great Lakes Naval Training Center. The theme is "Building Connections to Protect Our Children."

Parents, child care providers, educators and other individuals and groups concerned about programs that will benefit Lake County's children are urged to attend, said committee member Anne Meyer.

Day care providers approached Fighting Back about sponsoring a workshop, she said, because of their concerns over a variety of issues.

Some of the questions the day care providers asked, she said, include "What if a child they care for looks like he is abused? What if a parent or uncle is drunk when they come to pick up the child? What do they do? What are their legal rights and responsibilities?"

Expo '94 participants will explore public policy and child advocacy issues, review child care and family benefit programs in the workplace, and discuss ways to strengthen relationships between child care providers and parents. Meyer said Expo '94 will also provide support to parents by educating them about parenting resources.

Cost of attending is $5 for those who pre-register or $10 for those who pay at the door. For more information about Expo '94, contact Laurel Dahl, community coordinator of Fighting Back, at 546-7144.

Del Re aims for safe county

TINA L. SWIECH

Staff Reporter

A longtime law enforcement officer who is wrapping up his duties with the Buffalo Grove Police Department is looking to bigger things.

Gary Del Re came into law enforcement at the age of 23.

He was officially introduced as undersheriff at a press conference at the side of his new executive officer, Lake County Sheriff Clinton Grinnell.

Del Re will begin as undersheriff Feb. 7, replacing Willie Smith who will return to a command post with the rank of captain.

Aligning his views closely with Grinnell's, Del Re said he wants to assist in providing a clear and concise picture of the future of the county-wide community.

"Making sure that Lake County is a safe place to call home," is a goal of Del Re's.

Other aims that Del Re is pledging are to maintain a high degree of ethics. "My philosophy in a nutshell—we need strong community support," the under-sheriff announced.

Some of the little ways that residents can help to strengthen the county, explained Del Re, is to participate in crime prevention programs and to contact police in a timely fashion when a problem arises.

Giving attention to the business community is also being vowed by Del Re as part of his new position. And speaking for himself as well as Grinnell, "I'm certain we're going to do our best to keep the highways safe."

Being involved in the waterways, is one of Grinnell's current interests, noted Del Re.

Del Re, 44, said he is enthused and excited about starting his new job.

The Mundelein resident said he has been heading the sheriff department's major crimes task force, as well as holding the title of police commander with Buffalo Grove.

Missing the people he's worked with for so many years is something he's already feeling. "But I'll be operating under the philosophy to keep my old friends and make new ones," Del Re said.

"This offers me a great opportunity to contribute, and I'm delighted the Sheriff has asked me to come on board," stated Del Re simply.

Sheriff continues to investigate fatal snowmobile crash on the Fox River

SPENCER SCHEIN

Staff Reporter

A McHenry County Coroner's office official said toxicology reports on two men who died in a head-on snowmobile accident should be received by the end of the week.

The lab reports on the two men who crashed just after midnight Jan. 6 on the Fox River near Crystal Lake were likely to be completed by Jan. 21, said Mary Jo Coonen, coroner's office chief investigator.

McHenry Sheriff's officials were still waiting to receive test results back on the headlights from both snowmobiles to see if they were operational.

The sheriff's office is also investigating another snowmobile accident which occurred Jan. 17 at 1:55 p.m., on Griswald Lake about two miles west of the Village of Island Lake.

Timothy R. Moon, 17, of 2400 S. Highwood, McHenry, was thrown off his snowmobile after driving onto private property at 2439 S. River Rd., in unincorporated McHenry County, and struck a yellow rope with pink stripes that blocked off the area, sheriffs officials said.

Moon was thrown off the snowmobile and his helmet fell off before he hit the frozen ground with his head, Coonen said.

McHenry Rescue arrived on the scene at 2 p.m. and transported Moon to the Northern Illinois Medical Center in McHenry, where he was pronounced dead in the emergency room at 2:55 p.m.

Coonen said no evidence of drugs or alcohol were found at the scene. A coroner's inquest will be announced.

Coonen said snowmobile riders should be warned to be careful and be familiar with their surroundings to avoid accidents.

Killed in the Jan. 6 accident were Harry C. Hammond, 38, of Cary and Kurt Kaufhold, 24, of Streamwood. Both died of head trauma.

Abbott and VHA sign five-year agreement

Abbott Laboratories announced that it has signed a new five-year, multimillion-dollar contract with Voluntary Hospitals of America (VHA).

The agreement represents an expansion of the existing contract between Abbott and VHA. Abbott will supply VHA's 950 health care organizations with more than 600 intravenous (I.V.) products, including general I.V. solutions and equipment, parental nutritionals, Abbott's line of proprietary injectable drug delivery systems, and the LifeShield needle-stick protection system for I.V. administration.

According to Christopher B. Begley, vice president and general manager, Abbott hospital products, the new contract provides opportunities for Abbott to increase product sales with VHA health care organizations.

"We're developing a new way of doing business between Abbott, VHA and VHA health care organizations," says Begley. "Together, VHA and Abbott will identify opportunities to drive excess cost out of health care through product standardization and improved utilization of I.V. products."

Pat Moran, vice president and general manager of VHA's pharmacy business unit, said the new agreement combines the traditional benefits of preferred pricing with new incentives based on effective utilization of I.V. products.

"We're very enthusiastic about the potential of this new agreement to enhance the value delivered to patients and control the costs of I.V. therapy," Moran says.

VHA first signed an agreement with Abbott for I.V. solutions and sets in December, 1985. VHA institutions gave Abbott high ratings in a customer satisfaction survey that was part of a ten-month market research effort VHA completed before signing the new agreement.

"More than 90 percent of materials managers, pharmacy directors and nurses at VHA institutions said they were very satisfied with our previous agreement with Abbott for I.V. solutions and sets," Moran says.

Based in Irving, Texas, VHA is the nation's largest health care alliance. VHA's 950 health care organizations represent 18 percent of the nation's community hospitals and nearly 25 percent of all beds operated by community hospitals nationwide.

Abbott Laboratories is a worldwide manufacturer of health care products, employing 50,000 people. In 1993, the company's sales and net earnings were $8.4 billion and $1.4 billion, respectively, with earnings per share of $1.69.

Lawyers take aim at Medical Association

Staff Reporter

The Illinois Trial Lawyers Association is firing back at last week's accusations concerning campaign contributions. The dispute resulted from a comment which appeared in the Chicago Tribune's Inc. column that the lawyers "lined Springfield's corridors with gold," with financial contributions to special interest groups.

Patrick Salvi, president of the Illinois Trial Lawyers Association and a Lake County resident, criticized both the Illinois State Medical Society, the American Medical Society (AMA) and the media for continually portraying trial lawyers as having too much influence on politicians as a result of contributions to political candidates.

"In reality, the Illinois Medical Society spent more than twice as much as we did from the respective Political Action Committees," explained Salvi.

"Compare $904,550 to $441,397 for the one year 1992-'93 reporting period."

Salvi also points out that the American Medical Association donated over $5 million to political candidates, many of who support the tobacco industry and are opposed to the Brady gun control bill. Salvi criticized both the Illinois Medical Association and the AMA for what he has termed "hypocrisy" in both the public and political arena.

"Doctors should be, first and foremost, proponents of a healthy lifestyle," Salvi continued. "It should be their primary goal."

The amount of political contributions made by the Illinois State Medical Association came to $698,328 for the reporting period of July '92 through Dec. '92 and $206,222 for the period of Jan. '93 through June '93. This compares to the $315,350 for the July to Dec. '92 reporting period and $126,047 for Jan. '93 to June '93.

The course consists of eight sessions and covers instruction on boat handling, rules of the road, docking and anchoring, plotting a course on a chart, using a compass, trailering, weather, and engine troubleshooting.

These courses are geared mainly toward adults, but are offered to those age 12 and older.

PADS shelter needs volunteers

As the number of homeless individuals and families continues to rise, several area congregations that offer their facilities one night a week as a PADS (Public Action to Deliver Shelter) site are being hard pressed to supply enough trained volunteers to keep up with the need. The congregation in most need of volunteers at this time, especially for the late night and early morning shifts, is St. John's United Church of Christ at 1520 McAre Rd. in Waukegan, according to PADS director John Ames.

There are 15 PADS sites in Lake County open seven nights a week on a rotating basis from 7 p.m. to 7 a.m. providing shelter, nourishing food, and advocacy for individuals and families who have no place to call home. All are operating at capacity, according to Ames, even though the weather hasn't really turned bad yet.

The last training session for the season for people wishing to find more about being a PADS volunteer will be held on Wednesday from 7 to 9 p.m. at the College of Lake County, Grayslake. Those who decide volunteering is for them will attend a one-hour training session later at a site of their choice.

For more information, call 362-3381.

YMCA celebrates 150th anniversary

The Young Men's Christian Assn., YMCA, celebrates its 150th anniversary in 1994.

The YMCA was founded in 1844 during the industrial revolution in London, England by a young businessman named George Williams. The YMCA movement crossed the channel from London to the European continent prior to being established in Boston and Montreal in 1851.

Today, the YMCA is a local, yet world-wide organization involving boys, girls, men and women of all ages, races and faiths operating as members or participants in constructive programs that help develop interpersonal skills, self esteem, and the ability to live and cooperate with one another.

To kick off this year's 150th anniversary celebration, the Lake County Family YMCA in north Waukegan is having YMCA Week Monday, Jan. 24 to Sunday, Jan. 30. The week's celebration will conclude with an Open House and Pancake Breakfast on Sunday, Jan. 30 from 7 a.m. to 1 p.m. For information about the local YMCA call 360-9622.

Crisis line offers volunteer course

Area residents able to give as little as a few hours a month as a volunteer for the CONNECTION Telephone Crisis Intervention and Referral Service are invited to take the "Power of Listening" course offered at Lake Forest College Jan. 20.

The five-week course is taught by Curt Wennerdahl, M.S.W., M.DIV, who uses experienced Crisis Line telephone workers as group instruction leaders. While it is designed primarily to prepare volunteers to work on CONNECTION'S 24-hour a day telephone Hot Line, the course is of value to almost everyone, according to Wennerdahl, since its most important component is teaching people how to listen effectively.

Prospective volunteers learn how to use their own personal strengths to assist people who call the Hot Line in crisis or call seeking referral information on agencies, organizations and self-help support groups. Students receive basic information about things like family dynamics, alcoholism, chemical dependency, loneliness and abuse to prepare them to handle such calls.

CONNECTION'S Crisis Lines operate around the clock, seven days a week using trained volunteers who work flexible hours designed to fit into the volunteer's personal schedule. Volunteers are always needed and people who can work only one 4 hour shift a month are welcome.

The course will start Jan. 20 and meet twice weekly on Thursdays and Saturdays. The only fee is $15 for materials. Three hours of credit at either the graduate or undergraduate level can be arranged for college students. To register, or to obtain further information, call the CONNECTION office at 362-3381.

Goshgarian launches focus speakers bureau

Chief Judge John R. Goshgarian has launched a special focus speakers bureau to present information regarding Lake County's juvenile justice system and the need for its improvement.

Judge Goshgarian stated that "citizens of Lake County have the inherent right to live in a safe community and that strengthening our juvenile justice system, as outlined in a special report to the County Board, is the correct step that needs to be taken."

In order for our justice system to provide a SMART (Structured Military and Residential Treatment) Program and to enhance public safety, the voters will need to approve a tax increase this March equaling $1 per month for a $150,000 home.

Organizations that would like to have a member of the Lake County justice system make a presentation regarding this topic, contact Diane Flory at 360-6480.

New math: raise taxes, save money

BILL SCHROEDER

Publisher

County Board members employed heavy-handed shock treatment to drive home the point that unnecessary money—lots of it—is being spent because of an inadequate juvenile justice system.

They lumped together a bunch of bills for treatment and counseling contracts mandated by the courts that were fulfilled in places like Grove City, Pa., and Eau Claire, Wis. All total, the bills approved came to $277,000 for things like "anger management counseling," sexual abuse treatment and basically board and room in detention centers.

Finance Chairman Robert Buhai of Highland Park said the year-end bills were only a small portion of what the county spends for juvenile treatment. The plan is to raise taxes so that money can be spent locally to save taxpayers a bundle in the long long. Get that?

Chief Judge John Goshgarian has formed a speakers bureau to spread the story about the need for improved juvenile treatment. One of the things speakers will point out is that the proposed tax increase will amount to about a $1 a month on a home evaluated at $150,000. Call his office if you'd like to have a speaker for your next bowling party or bridge game.

Considering that there will be other money issues on the ballot March 15 in a number of communities, Judge Goshgarian and his cohorts have a pretty big sales job on their hands. It's a shame that every taxpayer has to be hit because some parents are doing a lousy job raising their kids.

Even considering that politicians are construing juvenile justice improvements as part of the county's economic development program, there ought to be other ways of raising money besides hitting the taxpayers again. After all, this is a big county. What about putting up the juvenile goof-offs in a local motel rather than shipping them across the country?

GOOFY NEWS PRIORITY—

Still observing and still commenting, Mike Graham noted that the other day a daily newspaper that views the universe from an Arlington Heights perspective devoted a big chunk of page one to Michael Jordan's attempt to make the White Sox while tucked away inside was an article about the crop land supply running out that is needed to feed the world's exploding population.

"That says a lot about our priorities," the former county political leader added dryly.

SOME COMEBACK—A former hot button of local politics, the open space question, could be making a comeback. The long standing public question is back of a number of contests for precinct committeeperson in the March 15 primary.

In Warren Township, for example, most of the precinct contests are rooted in unhappiness over the proposed extension of Yorkhouse Rd. through a residential and Forest Preserve Dist. Yorkhouse opponents perceive Republican as committeemen as being soft on open space so they're challenging incumbents.

The challenges are coming as a surprise to Warren Township boss, Supervisor Bob Depke who also serves as County Board chairman. Depke has been telling one and all that he's not worried about Yorkhouse Rd. opposition in Newport Township "because they can't vote for me." Now there is Yorkhouse Rd. opposition from citizens who can vote on Depke's future. Wonder if that will make a difference?

ONE MAN'S FAMILY—Weather these days has not been fit for man nor beast, so Cally and Thedog have been staying close to the house during their periodic backyard romps. Back inside, Thedog likes to snuggle under a sofa pillow. Cally prefers a warm spot back of a couch. I'd trade places with them in a minute if I could.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Future 'disaster'

Editor:

I voted for Jim Semmerling for Lake Villa Highway Commissioner. My reasoning: Our roads have been improved, paved and in good repair. Brush is removed quickly. Plowing is done during the storms and kept reasonably clear. Street signs replaced when vandals strike. He and his crew got the job done.

Though Mr. Semmerling is, and always will be, a "clear your throat and spit" kind of guy, I have always had answers to my questions, sandbags if I needed them, and clear roads. I don't feel his is a necktie political job. He is responsible for a service that I pay for through my taxes.

I find it hard to swallow now, for whatever reason, that I have to pray that it doesn't snow between 3 p.m. and 7 a.m. I don't understand why I have to worry if the rescue squad could get to my elderly mother if necessary. Or if my daughter's school bus can get into the neighborhood after school.

I've been known to vigorously stand up for Mr. Semmerling in conversations. Lately I've been asked what I think now.

I don't know. I just don't understand the political fine points. I don't understand how he can come out looking good. I do understand, though, that there is a potential for disaster.

When you vote for a President, you are also affirming the appointments he is going to make throughout his term to various offices. Remember his motto was, "Vote Democratic for a Change?"

Well, his hand-picked and Congressionally-approved little darling Attorney General Janet Reno, wants to make some "changes." She would like to redefine child pornography. Why? The law now in place has been 100 percent effective and by rewriting the current law (which President Clinton suggested), convicted criminals, now in jail, would be set free!

Even our Congress had the common sense to reject her proposal 110 to 0. That should send a powerful message to her and our President. Perhaps prison overcrowding was her See LETTERS page B11

Struggling for identity

Until a few years ago, crossroads communities were important parts of the Lake County landscape, providing a variety of lifestyles, unique character and a link with our rich rural past.

Rapid urbanization has all but smothered the county's distinctive hamlets. Prairie View on Rte. 22 has been gobbled up by Buffalo Grove's voracious annexation appetite, evidenced today only by the Vernon Township offices and the public library. Half Day, the county's first white settlement, has been "vaporized" in the turf wars fought by Lincolnshire and Vernon Hills.

Last year, Volo, a byway on Rte. 12 between Wauconda and Fox Lake, managed to extricate itself from suburban-imposed oblivion by adroitly incorporating itself. Volo succeeded where Gilmer, a cluster of modest residences once noted as the home of Lake County's last brewery, failed because of opposition from nearby communities.

Now another unincorporated community, Ingleside, is struggling to maintain its individuality. Located between Fox Lake and the Round Lake area, Ingleside is distinctive because its century old post office, the most notable landmark in a sea of middle class homes, plus a tavern, barbership, fire station and the Grant Township offices. What has Ingleside residents upset and angry is the fact that the U.S. Postal Service, as a economy move, is planning to merge the post office with Fox Lake, eliminating the postmaster and downgrading the facility to a substation.

Ingleside residents are mounting a petition drive to salvage any identity possible. If they fail, their community will become just another name on old maps, a mere reminder of a bygone era.

Clean air expensive

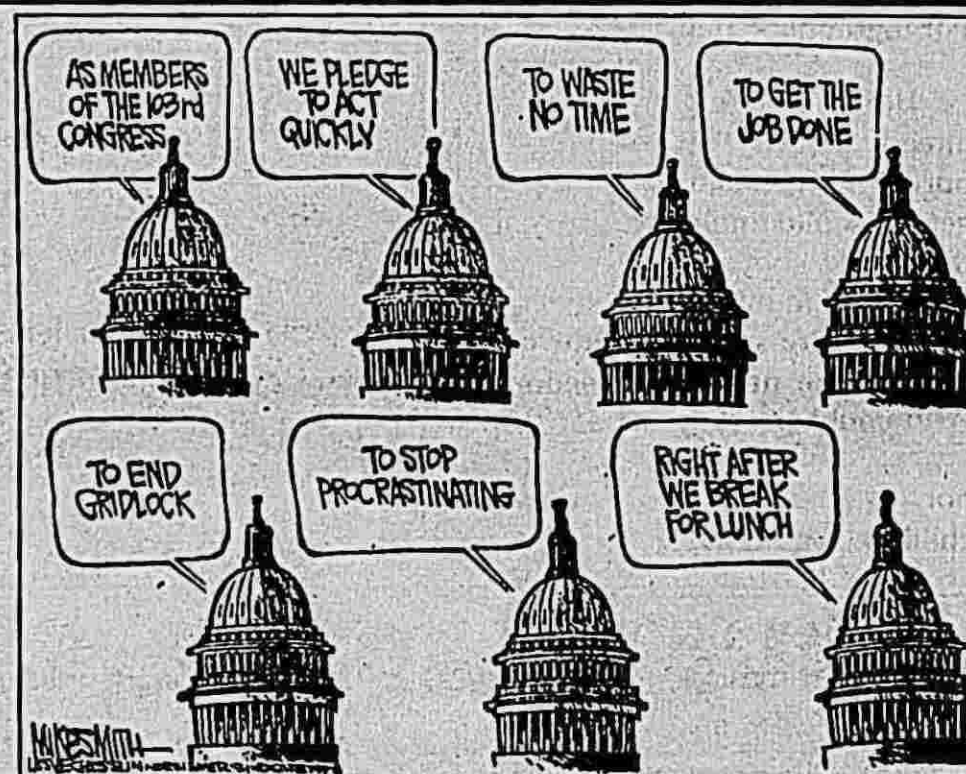

With Illinois legislators under the gun to protect $710 million in highway building grants, the long arm of the federal government reached into the far corners of suburbia to expand the mandatory emissions testing area for air pollution controls.

A newly approved cleanup plan added Antioch, Fox Lake, Ingleside, Barrington and Island Lake to the required test area plus such areas as Spring Grove and Crystal Lake in McHenry County. They now other collar county sectors omitted in the original required test area adopted in connection with the Clean Air Act of 1990.

This means that all motorists in Lake, Cook and DuPage counties will come under emissions control provisions to take effect in 1995.

Lawmakers have been reluctant to jump on the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency bandwagon. And well they should. The testing program will be costly and the predicted results are dubious. Motorists will be subjected to a rigorous treadmill test that will be required every two years.

Drivers who are part of the daily commuting cavalcade along such clogged thoroughfares as Edens Highway, Lake-Cook Rd. and I-94 know full well that a lot of pollution is produced by auto traffic. But that isn't going to stop the grumbling sure to explode next year when mandatory emissions testing is expanded. Cleaner air is going to be costly and troublesome to obtain.

Rte. 41 worth saving

by LAUREN JANUZ

Traffic on Route 41 through Lake County gets worse and worse every month, or so it seems. Recently, the writer attempted to go southbound onto 41 from the Full Moon Restaurant and truck stop which is located between Route 176 and Route 137 on Route 41 just west of Great Lakes Naval Training Center.

It wasn't rush hour, but it was an endless wait until traffic slowed down enough to let me cross the northbound lane and turn into the southbound lane.

When Edens Hwy. was built back in the 50's there was talk of eventually extending Edens through Lake County. But instead the I-94 toll road was built and Lake County native, then governor William Stratton, was able to repay a lot of political favors by acquiring farm land of low value from many of his friends to build the tollroad.

Route 41 has been a traffic jam for most of the years that I can remember, but in the past five years it has gotten progressively worse until today it is an absolute dread to try and use it during rush hours.

The improvement of the Edens extension on Route 41 from the Cleveley Road accident-prone crossing up to Park Avenue in Highland Park has certainly improved traffic in that area. But now the backups begin occurring primarily at Route 137 west of Great Lakes, Route 60 and Westleigh Road in Lake Forest and Route 22 in Highland Park. Route 176 has an overpass seems to take pretty good care of itself and only Route 137 west of Great Lake seems to be a bottleneck.

While there may be no traffic funds in the budget to improve Route 41, it's time that our legislature begin a long and hard look at improving Route 41, in Lake County. With the Exception of the Chicago Northwestern railroad crossing "S" curve just south of Route 60 in Lake Forest there isn't too much redrafting of the insertions that must be done. By constructing overpasses at Park Avenue, Route 22, Old Em Road, Westleigh Road and 137, Route 41 See RTE. 41 page B11

PARTY LINES

Sindles, Newton accept Porter campaign posts

Party Lines, the Lakeland Newspapers column of political opinion, is prepared from staff reports.

Sindles

Typical of the town chairs are his Mundelein coordinator, Mayor Marilyn Sindles, who also is involved in her husband, Ed's, bid for the Republican nomination for sheriff, and County Board Rep. Pam Newton of Vernon Hills, who is in a race of her own to retain a County Board seat.

The veteran 8th Dist. leader, representing a North Shore district that also extends to central Lake County, lauded Sindles and Newton as community leaders who represent the "front lines of our grassroots organization."

Family history—State Rep. Bob Churchill (R-Lake Villa) will be testing his wings as a historian when he and his brother, attorney Bill, recount their family's involvement in the legal fraternity Wednesday, Feb. 9, at a meeting of the Grayslake Historical Society.

Bob and Bill are third generation barristers, following their late father, George and their grandfather, R.W., in a mid-county legal practice dating back to the early days of Lake County.

Churchill

Bob is the first Churchill to get involved in politics, although as attorneys family members always have been close to public issues.

Recipes for victory—Assoc. Judge Barbara Gilleran-Johnson of Long Grove, who aspires to be the first woman jurist to sit on a 2nd Dist. Appellate Court bench, is distributing the most useful piece of campaign material since Sheriff Clint Grinnell handed out emory boards four years ago.

Gilleran-Johnson has a cook book featuring distinctive recipes from each of the counties that make up the 2nd Dist. There's DeKalb County corn bread, Stephenson sweet potato pie, Winnebago morning muffins and Lake County Michigan mash, for example. Party Lines helps especially like Daniel Boone easy beef stew (Boone County). Makes you want to head to the kitchen!

The judge said son, Ryan, 15, and his brother, Brandon, gathered the culinary masterpieces. Clearver!

Checkbook politics—Political observers report that State Sen. Peter Fitzgerald (R-Palatine) is spending freely all the way down to precinct levels in his campaign to oust Congressman Phil Crane in the March 15 Republican primary. Sort of Kennedy-style, Fitzgerald has his banker father helping out with campaign fund raising.

motivation or perhaps she thinks that pedophiles (adults with a sexual perversion in which children are the preferred sexual object) don't have enough material to arouse them. Who could possibly benefit from fewer restrictions? Pornographers themselves.

How about organized crime, already heavily involved in the pornography business? Don't forget the child molesters, perhaps they need some new, more creative ways to molest a child. Once again we are sacrificing our children in the name of "freedom." Who could possibly benefit from fewer restrictions on child pornography? Certainly not our children, whom Janet Reno claims to want to protect nor their parents, who will suffer almost as much as their children and certainly not our society.

I urge you to call our Justice Dept. and the White House to express your disgust for this latest "change" they are trying to force upon us. I'll bet this wasn't the kind of "change" you voted for. The White House has several lines you can call: (202)456-2230, 2930, 2861, 2100. And the Justice Department also has several lines: (202)514-1721, 4195, 3116, 2011, 2927.

will be improved substantially all the way to Waukegan.

And while they're at it, convert the antiquated two lanes in each direction to three lanes in each direction and we'll have decent commuter transportation along Route 41 for another couple of decades.

But unless something is done in the very near future we're going to see bottlenecks on Route 41 occurring much more frequently and even will see them in non-rush hour periods.

The cost of these highway improvements will be substantially less than eventually building an entire new north-south highway in Lake County and will certainly relieve congestion on the east side of Lake County for some years to come.

VAMC taking part in transition meetings

Al Pate, director of the Department of Veterans Affairs (VA) Medical Center at North Chicago has been called to the nation's capital to take part in a department-wide project to support the transition of VA's delivery of care to veterans under health care reform.

Pate will be serving on a working group organized by the VA National Health Care Reform Program Office at the direction of VA Secretary Jesse Brown. The program office's goal is to provide a blueprint for transforming a centralized bureaucratic system into a responsible decentralized customer-driven organization providing quality, cost-effective and accessible services.

VA is taking action now to ensure that it will remain a leader among the nation's health care providers. The Health Security Act, introduced in Congress on President Clinton's behalf, increases the importance to the Department of successfully completing the transformation it proposes.

Under the President's proposal, all veterans will be eligible to enroll in a VA health plan if one exists in their state or region.

VA will compete for enrollments with groups of health care providers, health maintenance organizations, and other organizations authorized by states to provide health care services to enrolled individuals.

"Every VA director and chief of staff will have to ask how can we make our facility competitive?" said Secretary Brown. "Our very survival will depend on how well they answer that question, and make the necessary changes."

Working group meetings will continue throughout January and early February. The Program Office intends to make its recommendations for change to Secretary Brown shortly thereafter.

Nurses offer scholarships

The Barrington Area Registered Nurses Organization is offering two $700 scholarships to assist individuals who have been accepted and seated into an accredited school of nursing, students presently enrolled full time in a nursing program, or any registered nurse pursuing a bachelor degree in nursing. Preoperative education video assists patients Victory Memorial Hospital realizes that for the general population, surgery is not an everyday occurrence. By developing a new pre-surgery education video, Victory hopes to better prepare its patients and their families for what to expect before, during and after surgery. The video was produced through the team efforts of the surgery, same day surgery, anesthesia and post anesthesia care departments at Victory.

"By using Victory's Quality Leadership Process, we were able to examine our current patient education system and look at ways of improving it," says Margery Woll, director of surgical services, Victory Memorial Hospital.

The result is a nine-and-a-half minute video that provides essential instructions, including: Not eating or drinking after midnight the night before surgery; when and where to check in for surgery; where to park on the day of surgery; what to wear to the hospital; what to expect in terms of anesthesia; where patients will be taken after surgery; and what to do after arriving home.

"Although pamphlets are available explaining this process, we wanted a teaching device which was both entertaining and informative to maintain our patients' interest," says Carole Johnson, perioperative educator, Victory Memorial Hospital.

"Nursing research has demonstrated that a multi-sensory approach to learning produces increased comprehension and recall. Therefore, we felt a video, which combines sight and sound, would be a great way to help the patient and family retain important information," says Johnson.

The video is available for viewing in Victory's Same Day Surgery Dept., the offices of physicians on Victory's medical staff, and in the office of Karen Alfano, pre-admitting nurse, Victory Memorial Hospital. According to Alfano, who sees 50 to 60 patients a week, patients have already shown a positive response to the video.

"It's important for our patients to see Victory and to visualize what they'll be going through," says Alfano. "This familiarizes them with the whole process and makes the day of their surgery go more smoothly."

Patients have the opportunity to take the video home to view it several times until they are comfortable with the information. This also allows the patient's family to get involved in the learning experience.

A Spanish version of the video is in preparation to better prepare Victory's Hispanic patients. For more information call 360-4026.

Midwest honors outstanding staff members

A kind spirit and a welcoming sense of hospitality have earned Ruth Cole recognition as Employee of the Year at Midwestern Regional Medical Center in Zion.

A member of the staff for nearly 15 years, Cole serves as administrative assistant for the department of nursing.

"Ruth is one of the most faithful, hard working and outgoing staff members we have," says Eileen Mirsberger, director of nursing. "She is always willing to do whatever needs to be done. No job is too big or too small."

A resident of Zion, Cole and her husband Dick have been married for more than 40 years, have raised eight children, and now enjoy spending time with their 13 grandchildren, ages 14 months to 17 years.

Debbie Nelson, a member of the patient accounts staff, was named Employee of the Year at Cancer Treatment Centers of America.

Debbie is known for doing whatever it takes to get the job done. "Debbie's work is in a class very few other employees have been able to match," says Nora Orrick, VP patient accounts. "With the effort she puts into her responsibilities, Debbie produces high quality work in less time than someone else who works the same amount of hours."

Nelson joined the organization's business office in 1979 as an assistant, and since then has assumed more responsibilities. She is responsible for managing patient account issues, completing and updating patient registration information, and resolving misapplied or late charges.

The Nelson family, Debbie, husband Chuck and daughters Makara, 14, and Mallory, 5, live in Winthrop Harbor where Debbie was also born and raised. They enjoy the outdoors, golfing, T-ball and Harleys. Nelson graduated from the school building where her office is located, at the Zion High School Pearce Campus on 23rd Street.

Nelson received a plaque and a vacation trip for two from Mr. Stephenson and from Bill Bramble, president of CTCI.

Rosemary Duty, a supervisor in the dietary department at Midwestern, was named the recipient of the Art Fossland Award. Named in behalf of the former mayor of Winthrop Harbor and current member of the Midwestern Board of Directors, the award recognizes a staff member who demonstrates compassionate and customer-centered care.

Candace Malson, RN, a member of the nursing staff at Midwestern, received the Cancer Treatment Centers of America Customer Service Award for outstanding clinical and customer service skills.

More than 500 staff members who attended the organizations' annual holiday party gave each award recipient a standing ovation.

Debbie Nelson receives the Cancer Treatment Centers of America Employee of the Year Award from Bill Bramble, president of CTCI and Richard J. Stephenson, chairman of the board.

Ruth Cole, administrative assistant for the department of nursing at Midwest Regional Medical Center, receives the employee of the year award from Donald L. Maloney, II, president and CEO, and Richard J. Stephenson, chairman of the board.

Rosemary Duty, a supervisor in the dietary department at Midwest Regional Medical Center, was named Art Fossland Award recipient. Presenting the award are: Richard J. Stephenson, chairman of the board of trustees, and Arthur Fossland, president of the board of trustees and former mayor of Winthrop Harbor.

'Healthy Hearts' subject of free seminars

Victory Memorial Hospital's Cardiac Services is presenting "Healthy Hearts," a series of free community seminars to highlight American Heart Month. To register for seminars of interest, call 1 (800) THE CHOICE (1-800-843-2464).

The series begins with "Cooking for the Healthy Heart" at 7 p.m. on Thursday, Jan. 27 at Madison Avenue Restaurant, 34 N. Sheridan Rd., Waukegan. A professional chef will illustrate that healthy eating habits don't have to be boring through cooking demonstrations, and a registered dietitian will share healthy tips for creative cooking.

The second seminar in the series is "Keeping Your Heart Healthy." It will be presented at 7 p.m. on Thursday, Feb. 3 in the amphitheater at Victory Memorial Hospital, 1324 N. Sheridan Rd., Waukegan. Cardiologist Norman Weinstein, M.D., will discuss lifestyle balances for a healthy heart, telltale signs of heart emergencies, and how to increase your chances of surviving them.

"Shopping for a Healthy Heart" will be presented on Thursday, Feb. 10 at Welton's Village Market, 3555 Grand Ave., Gurnee. This seminar, led by a registered dietitian, will help you to know what to look for when grocery shopping, dispel the myths about fad foods, and teach you to "interpret" food labels.

The final seminar in the series is "Exercising for a Healthy Heart" at 7 p.m. on Thursday, Feb. 17 at the Victory Adult Day Center, located in the Lake County Family YMCA, 2000 Western Ave., Waukegan. It's time to put on your sweats and gym shoes and learn that exercising can be fun in addition to leading to a healthy lifestyle. Attendees will learn exercise habits that result in a safe, heart-healthy workout.

For further information on any of Victory Memorial's "Healthy Hearts" series, call 1-(800) THE CHOICE (1-800-843-2464).

Deadline near for applications for free eye exam program

Free eye exams will be available to low-income people and their families through a program sponsored by the Illinois Optometric Association and American Optometric Association.

The national public service program, called Vision USA, is designed to help meet health care needs of low-income, working citizens who don't have health insurance. People interested in the free eye exam may call toll-free, (800)766-4466, from 7 a.m. to 9 p.m. weekdays through Jan. 31, to be screened for eligibility.

They can also write for an application to Vision USA, 243 N. Lindbergh Blvd., St. Louis, Mo., 63141. They must call or return their application forms by Jan. 25. The exams will be performed in Illinois primarily during "Save Your Vision Week," March 6 to 12.

To qualify for the free exam, applicants must have a job or live in a household with at least one working person; not be covered by health insurance; have an income below an established level based on family size, and not have had an eye exam during the past year.

Cleft lip, palate support group to meet

Lutheran General Medical Group, S.C. will hold the next meeting of the Cleft Lip and Palate Support Group on Monday, Jan. 24 at 7 p.m. in room 1042B at Lutheran General Hospital, 1775 Dempster in Park Ridge. The speakers at this meeting will be Linda Smith, insurance analyst for the state of Illinois, and Gail Glink, health claims assistance professional with ProMediClaim. They will discuss the topic "Insurance and Craniofacial Conditions." Refreshments will be served.

Meetings are open to parents, patients and others interested in orofacial clefting. The group will provide an opportunity for parents and their children, as well as other interested individuals, to meet on an informal basis, learn from one another, and provide mutual support. Adults with cleft lip and/or cleft palate are encouraged to attend as well. For more information, or if interested in attending, contact Debby Reynolds, R.N., nurse at the Cleft Palate Clinic, at 696-7705.

Treatment available for those suffering from depression

"...I have suspected for some time now that you may have a condition that I want to discuss with you. Don't be frightened, but I think you are manic-depressive..." and so began Patty Duke's road to recovery according to her 1992 account in "A Brilliant Madness: Living with Manic-Depressive Illness" (published by Bantam Books).

After years of experiencing dramatic swings in her mood, Duke discovered a physician who could diagnose her illness. And with diagnosis came treatment.

Manic-depressive illness is a mood disorder marked by moods which swing between ecstatic highs and depressive lows.

Approximately two to three million Americans suffer from this debilitating but treatable disorder. The National Institute of Mental Health defines this illness as involving episodes of serious mania and depression.

Help for manic-depressives and their families is available in Lake County. Immediate assistance is available through the Victory Memorial Hospital Mental Health 24-Hour Hot Line, 360-4082. This confidential emergency hot line is staffed by professional mental health counselors and nurses. For referral to a therapist familiar with manic-depressive illness, call Victory's free Physician Referral Service at 360-4101.

Stage Two's 'The Playhouse,' almost flawless

"The Playhouse, presented by Stage Two in Waukegan, is a romantic comedy dealing with divorce, the battle of the sexes, and the timely subject of relationships between men and women. The heroine of the play, portrayed marvelously by Roxanne Saylor, is Joan, a woman who is compelled to make sacrifices for everyone around her without much consideration for herself. Director John Reinhardt compares Joan to Cinderella and every other heroine who finds her Prince Charming and believes that together they will "live happily ever after." Except Joan finds disappointment in her fairy tale scenario when her Prince Charming, Robert, leaves her for another woman.

When Joan married Robert she dropped out of college to work while Robert went to law school, and once Robert finally became a lawyer, he divorce Joan and remarried. Leaving Joan out in the proverbial cold wasn't a very slick Prince Charming gesture, but to clear his conscience Robert rented an apartment for Joan while she planned to attend nursing school. The landlady's nephew, Al, shows up to fix a broken furnace and consequently interferes with Joan's already complicated life. Al introduces Joan to a new way thinking, particularly for herself and not so much for others. Is nursing right for her, helping people as she has always done in the past? Or would police work provide a more exciting and rewarding life for her? Al and Joan have quite a frivolous love affair, and afterwards, more complications come to light. Boy gets girl, boy loses girl, and well, you have to see the play to find out how Joan tries to get a handle on her own life.

Review by

Except for a few unnecessary pauses in the performance's pacing as well as long, dark transitions between scenes, the play is almost without flaws. The acting is well enough not to bumble any audience involvement and there are enough character bits to elicit random chuckles, but not enough to stir up any uncontrollable, gut-busting laughter. More effective than the comic aspects in the play is the delivery of emotions by certain actors, especially on behalf of the lead role. Saylor is convincingly confused as her character is intended to be, and in the end, the actress makes Joan's determination to take her life in her own hands very believable, leaving the play with the hope needed for an acceptable finale. Another commendable performance is delivered by Rosemarie "Rosebud" Koskinen. Koskinen brings charismatic life to the production with her presentation of the adorable and feisty landlady, Clarissa.

As of now, Stage Two has performances of various plays booked for every weekend until June, including, of course, "The Playhouse" which will run until Feb. 13. Other plays scheduled to be performed are "The 2nd Ray Bradbury Theatre Festival," "The Martian Chronicles," running March 10 through April 10, and "The Last Rehearsal," running May 12 through June 12. For ticket reservations and other information call the Stage Two box office at 662-7088.

A postcard view of history

CLAUDIA M. LENART
Regional Editor

Browse through the postcard collection of early Lake County and history unfolds from the bustle of early Waukegan to the Chain O' Lakes vacation paradise.

The Lake County Museum postcard collection has recently become more accessible to residents thanks to endless volunteer hours donated by museum volunteer Kirk Kekatos.

Kekatos, a Grayslake resident, spent two years cataloguing more than 1,600 Lake County postcards. Lake County Museum Archivist Diana Dretske expressed appreciation for Kekatos' efforts.

"We had just intended for Kirk to catalog the cards. But he ended up doing research and added a lot of information," said Dretske.

Kekatos described, measured, dated and assigned a number to each postcard. He found dating the cards to be the most challenging aspect of the project.

Kekatos discovered with the earliest postcards, from the early 1900s, the back of the card was only for the address and there was a small space on the front for messages. Another way to determine the date of a card was by the design of the outline for stamps.

Of course, one obvious way to date a card is by the postmark, if it was mailed, but even then the photo may have been taken long before the card was sent.

Kekatos, an architect who is also a photography buff, was most taken with the real photograph cards which, conveniently, were dated by the photographer. As a photographer, Kekatos was also able to note what type of camera was used for some of the cards.

Kekatos, who is relatively new to Lake County, found the historical development of Waukegan interesting. The Waukegan postcard collection is the largest at about 500. His curiosity was also sparked by the scenic changes in the Chain O' Lakes.

"I found it rather intriguing, or saddening, that there are a lot of things not here anymore, like the lotus beds," said Kekatos.

The Chain O' Lakes region is the second most photographed for postcards. In fact, the Army Corps of Engineers recently used the museum's postcard collection to perform research on environmental impact on the lakes over time.

The museum often uses the postcards to make photographs for its displays. The Lure of the Lakes, a current display, uses many cards from the collection.

Dretske said residents most often are interested in using the collection to research their town's history.

Those interested in accessing the collection should make an appointment by calling the archivist at 526-7878. Mail written requests to: Lake County Museum, Regional History Archive, 27277 Forest Preserve Drive, Waukegan, IL 60084. The collection can be viewed, Monday to Friday, 9 a.m. to 4 p.m.

—CRITIC'S CHOICE—

Wild, wacky nuns are back in 'Nunsense II' at Candlelight Playhouse

Those wild and wacky nuns are back in "Nunsense II, the Second Coming," directed by William Pullinisi at Candlelight Dinner Playhouse.

The comedy stems from a book, with music and lyrics by Dan Goggin.

In this outing, five women don the habit as the Little Sisters of Hoboken and spend their time practicing for a variety show to thank those who supported their benefit in the first "Nunsense," which closed at the "Forum" in 1989 after two and one-half years.

Despite a fine cast (Karliah Hamilton is especially jolly as the Mother Superior and E. Faye Butler stands out as her Mistress of the Novices) backed by Nathan Hurwitz' equally fine musical direction, "Nunsense II" is a good argument against sequels.

Too much time is spent setting the stage for "Nunsense II," and the humor is mostly lame stuff (i.e., Christmas "gift" ideas like an Ascension Thursday levitation kit with 200 AA batteries). For audience participation, there's a silly bingo game.

Nuns rollerskating, doing the CanCan or singing about seven of their counterparts locked in a lavatory grow old quickly.

"Nunsense II" runs through Feb. 13, and ticket information is available at 496-3000.—by TOM WITOM

Good Food

CLAUDIA M. LENART

Regional Editor

As the temperatures continue to drop, nothing is more warming than a bowl of hot soup.

Although I rarely cook up soup in the warm months, in winter I cook at least a pot a week. Even if the pantry and refrigerator are on the empty side, you can usually find enough ingredients to innovate a pot of soup.

You can boil just about any vegetables (broccoli, cauliflower, asparagus) in a pot of water with bouillon cubes and a bay leaf to make a nice base. For a creamy soup, add some leftover mashed potatoes. Another shortcut is to add a can of Campbell's cream of chicken soup, which also comes in a low fat version. With leftover veggies, add bay leaf, bouillon cubes, tomato sauce and spices, to taste.

One of my favorite soups is French onion. The French onion soup recipe is my own, and easy. I've also added a recipe for Wisconsin Cheesy Potato Soup that comes from the Dairy Farmers of Wisconsin.

French onion soup

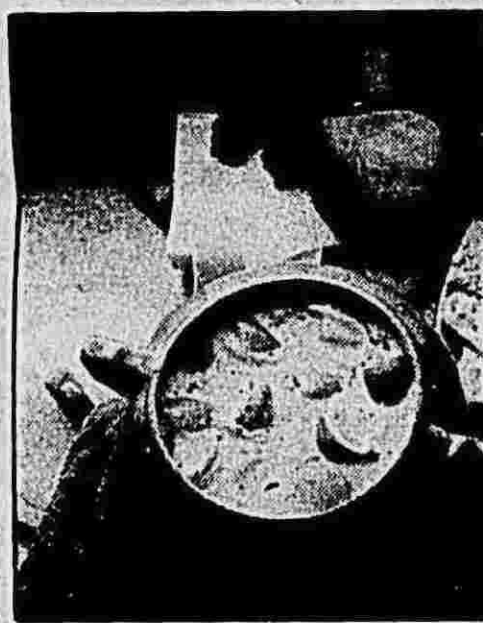

1 medium to large onion, sliced thin
8 cups of water
1 cup of any pink or red wine
1 bay leaf
6 beef bouillon cubes dash of Worcestershire sauce (to taste) dash of soy sauce (to taste)
dash of pepper

Put water, onion, bouillon cubes and bay leaf in pot and bring to a roaring boil. Turn heat down to medium and add wine, Worcestershire sauce, soy sauce, pepper and salt. Cook for about 20 minutes. Before serving, you may want to garnish this with croutons topped with shredded mozzarella or any other white cheese.

Wisconsin cheesy potato soup

4 baking potatoes
2 tablespoons of butter
1 medium onion
2 tablespoons flour
1 teaspoon beef bouillon granules
2 cups water
1 12-ounce can evaporated skim milk
4 ounces Wisconsin brick cheese shredded
3/4 teaspoon Worcestershire sauce
3/4 teaspoon salt
3/4 teaspoon pepper

Cook potatoes in microwave on high until tender, cool. Place butter and onions in large bowl. Cook in microwave on high until tender, about 2 minutes. Stir in flour, add bouillon granules and water. Stir well, return to microwave and cook 2 minutes until mixture is heated. Scoop out potatoes leaving pieces in chunks. Add potatoes, milk, cheese and seasonings to hot mixture. Return to microwave and cook 2 1/2 to 4 minutes until cheese is melted and soup is hot.

Actress Dee to speak at CLC

Ruby Dee

Award-winning actress Ruby Dee will be the guest speaker at the College of Lake County's annual Martin Luther King Day program at 7 p.m., Jan. 27 in the auditorium at CLC's Grayslake campus.

A product of Harlem and The American Negro Theater, Dee has performed in live theatre and starred in many film and television roles. She has been recognized as one of the stage's finest actresses in such plays as "Purlie Victorious," "A Raisin in the Sun," "Boesman and Lena" and "Wedding Band." Her other credits include "Buck and the Preacher," a Sidney Poitier film; Alex Haley's "Roots;" and James Baldwin's "Go Tell it in the Mountain."

Dee won an Emmy for her role in "Decoration Day," a Hallmark Hall of Fame presentation. In 1988, she was inducted into the Theatre Hall of Fame and in 1989 into the NAACP Image Award Hall of Fame. She is also the author of "My One Good Nerve," a collection of short stories and poetry; and "Two Ways to Count to Ten," a children's book which won the Literary Guild Award in 1989.

Dee and her husband Ossie Davis have produced some of their best work with PBS, including "Martin Luther King: The Dream and the Drum" and "A Walk Through the 20th Century with Bill Moyers."

The Martin Luther King Day celebration is free and open to the public. For information, call 623-8686.

Movie Picks

'Philadelphia' could have been better

There have always been crusading films preaching for various causes. Those that show the cause in a light bright enough to show the subject's flaws as well as virtues - providing that the plot is accompanied by good acting and directing - often turn out to be great films.

In the latest of these, "Philadelphia," Dir. Jonathan Demme concentrates on dragging pity from the audience for those suffering and dying with AIDS, instead of delving past the rather stereotyped gay AIDS victim to find out what really makes them tick.

The audience might even get the impression that Demme is afraid to show the real story of a gay person dying with one of the most controversial diseases, lest he should offend some purists.

Tom Hanks plays a very successful Philadelphia attorney, deeply ensconced in that stodgy, very straight society.

Although his family and those close to him are aware of his sexual preferences, Hanks has successfully stayed in the closet as far as his career is concerned.

He even succeeds in keeping the fact that he is suffering from full-blown AIDS a secret for awhile. Just as he receives a big promotion, his employers discover his secret and find a reason to dismiss him.

Fighting mad about this discriminatory act, Hanks, with the help of Denzel Washington, sues the offending law firm.

What's right here are several things, among them: Much of Hanks' emoting - though inconsistent - he turns in a bang-up job with a few emotional scenes; bringing more publicity to this controversial problem; attempting to show the fine line between homophobia and the fight for sur-

What's wrong with the plot includes: The fact we would have liked to have seen Hanks' character as he lived on a day-to-day basis with his problems; we would have liked to have felt the effect of Hank's diseased crusade on his relationship with his lover.

What we did see was a crusade for AIDS research that lacked a lot of humanity. Washington, who is being rated as one of film-dom's top actors, plays his generic part generically - constituting a real waste of talent.

Rated PG-13, "Philadelphia" gets three out of five stars for being a little shy in doing the job. Like all the recurring Holocaust movies, it does accomplish one big thing by keeping the subject problem in the forefront. —by GLORIA DAVIS

Groundhog preparing to emerge from underground

Even as winter freezes the Chicago area, the groundhog is getting ready for its annual emergence during the Lake County Forest Preserve's annual "Groundhog Day" program at Ryerson Woods near Deerfield on Sunday, Jan. 30, at 1:30 p.m.

"Any sensible rodent would still be hibernating on Groundhog Day," said the weather-wise woodchuck. "But the kids love to see me, and as long as they believe in me I'll keep coming out of my hole."

The hour-long program, for families with children nine years and younger, begins when the groundhog comes up from its hole in the Forest Preserve. The groundhog then leads everyone indoors to learn more about groundhogs, hibernation and weather forecasting.

The fee is $3 per person ($2 for Lake County residents). Advance reservations are required. For more information and to make a reservation call Ryerson Woods at 948-7750.

Romance and dinner in Mrs. Sears' bedroom

Each year on Valentines Day, the Country Squire puts a little old fashioned romance in customer's lives by opening the former bedroom suites into a gala room for lovers only. Several years ago, the Country Squire was so booked up, they turned customers away. In an effort to accommodate customers, the restaurant expanded into Mrs. Sears' bedroom. By opening up the room, repairing her fireplace, placing fresh flowers and candles on all the tables, it has become a couples-only room.

Mrs. Sears' bedroom has become a tradition with our customers who return year after year. The Country Squire has even added a special "lovers menu" and flowers.

Come on out and enjoy the romantic fire, fine wine, and a great candlelight dinner. Share some great memories while creating new ones.

Normally, the Country Squire is closed on Mondays, but this Feb. 14 it will be open. For Saturday night lovers, there will be two seatings at 6:30 and 8 p.m. These seatings will be repeated on Monday night.

Downstairs, in the main dining room, customers can enjoy lunch or dinner Saturday. On Sunday, stop in for brunch or dinner.

It is reservations only, so get your date lined up and call in your reservation to 223-0121. The Country Squire will be expecting you.

The restaurant is located at Routes 120 and 45 in Grayslake. It is easy to get here from wherever you live. For reservations or more information, call 223-0121. Except for February 14, the Country Squire will be closed as usual on Mondays

Come in out of the cold to Bill's Pizza

Warm up by a cozy fire in the rustic setting of Bill's Pizza and Pub, a Mundelein tradition for more than 35 years.

The restaurant is located on the corner of Route 45 and Diamond Lake Road in Mundelein.

The interior is decorated with a Northwoods theme, complete with a roaring fire. Fish and animal trophies share the restaurant space with hungry customers.

"My dad caught many of the fish you see on the walls," says Mary Ann Rouse, who helps manage the restaurant.

Bill's is famous for its pizza and pizza puffs. Now, a frozen version of these delights can be found in at least 10 local grocery stores.

The Pub offers two kinds of pizza. The thin crust pizza has a golden flaky crust that is out-of-this-world. For a more hearty appetite, the double decker pizza fits the bill.

Bill's Pub offers a number of unique appetizers. Onion blossoms, jalapeno cheddar poppers or fried zucchini and mushrooms are a great way to start off a delicious meal. The flowering onion is the latest taste treat to be added to the selections.

All Bill's pizzas are made fresh to order with the highest quality ingredients available. For something different, try Bill's Mexican pizza. This 12" or 14" favorite has taco meat, mozzarella and cheddar cheese, green onion, tomato, black olives, and optional jalapeno peppers.

Kids of all ages can try their skills in the electronic game room while they wait for the pizza and everyone can nibble on complimentary peanuts. Shells on the floor, please, even if Mom's watching.

Don't let anyone kid you about who has the best pizza, sandwiches, munchies and the coldest beer in town. People around this area know from past experience that the best is offered by Bill's Pizza. These folks use time-tested recipes and fresh choice ingredients so that each pizza or sandwich they serve will make you come back for more.

At Bill's Pizza & Pub you find that friendly service and good prices are not on the extras list. They have been offering "ONLY THE BEST" in family dining since 1957.

BEST of

Loved the parade

I am calling from Round Lake Beach. What in the heck kind of 4th of July parade was that? There was no American flag, marching bands, or veterans. Just a bunch of softball players yelling for the spectators to throw them candy. What happened to the Boy Scouts, Girl Scouts, the Salvation Army band, anything? The only business represented were one real estate office, a funeral home, and a pizza delivery car. Last, but not least, who ends a parade with Elvis impersonator? Only Round Lake Beach. What an embarrassment.

Hlt and Run
Loudly do I scream
At the sight of her still body
Where's my Jenny now?

Critic

I just read the first entry "A poem". I know that a lot of people have been calling in asking for a poetry corner. I'm sorry, but if this is an indication of future entries to come, I hope you will not print anymore.

It Would Be Nice

It saddens me to read there is so much negativity in this world. This world really stinks and is full of crap. It is because no one works together. No one is kind. I am not trying to sound like some saint, but wouldn't it be nice to put some positive comments in here?

Don't Give A Poop

Fox Lake Zoning Board chairman said, and I quote, "He does not defecate the village." If that is true, he should prove it by voting against the asphalt plant.

Pagan Holiday

I find it very upsetting that prayer is not allowed in the schools but teachers celebrate Earth Day. Earth Day is a pagan ritual promulgated by environmental wackos, the media, and ungodly pagans. It has been proven by Rush Limbaugh that there is no ozone hole or environmental problems.

Lipservice is a phone-in column presented as a feature of Lakeland Newspapers. Lakeland Newspapers makes no claim to the authenticity of the statements. Lakeland Newspapers does not claim the content or the subject matter as fact, but as the personal opinion of the caller. Lakeland Newspapers reserves the right to edit copy or to refrain from printing a message. Call in at 223-8073 and leave your message 24-hours a day. Although the call is anonymous, please leave your village name.

Needs information

Recently, my husband's construction company unearthed a 6-inch bottle. It is in perfect condition and resembles the old milk bottles used years ago, except it is smaller. The bottle reads, Property of and filled by Round Lake Creamery Company, Round Lake, Illinois. Does anyone remember that place or have any information about this possible antique.

Not the same

I want to clarify something. Pagan is not the same thing as Satanic. Pagan is a person who is not a Christian, Moslem, or Jew. Non-religious is not the same as a Satan worshipper.

Better wake up

It is about time that the school board and community of Warren Township High School wake up to what is going on. The tactics of a certain supervisor are belittling, embarrassing, and harassing.

The sun?

The pagans were smarter than the Christians and knew our life source comes from the sun, not some sick old guy running around claiming he is God. Get smart.

Give em tickets

Now that it has become a law to use your headlights with your windshield wipers, it would be nice if the police would start handing out tickets to the morons who do not brush off the snow from their cars. These idiots are a 911 call waiting to happen.

Make sure and vote

Warning to all property owners in the Gavin School District. Election results could raise your taxes. Be sure you vote in March.

Chief of sinners

The Round Lake Scrooge who unjustly fired a custodian just before Christmas is commonly known to the workers as an egotistical moron who is the chief of sinners. He should have examined his own past and fired himself.

Thanks for the help

I would again like to thank the man who pulled me out of the ditch on State Park Road on Saturday. And, the man in the green car that helped. Also, thanks to the person who followed the car that drove me off the road and returned with the license plate number. My sons were impressed that such wonderful people do exist. No thanks to the Fox Lake police officer who drove past me first and did nothing.

Needs help

I have lived in Ingleside for over 25 years. We have spent a great deal of money on our property and feel very proud of it. But in general, snowmobilers seem to have a complete disregard of our property rights. Not to mention, being kept up all night. I am getting fed up with it. Can anyone tell me what my rights are?

Call her back

I think Fox Lake Fire Department should learn how to get back to someone when they tell you they will call back. Twice I called and no one got back to me. Thank God it was not an emergency.

Even more insurance

For the HMO person, go to the hospital and speak to them personally. Then send a letter to the insurance company and the hospital including the doctor's referral. Finally, call the insurance company and find out the name of the person handling your case. Insist on speaking with that persons supervisor. Give them the squeeze.

Wants a center

You dry up. I am over 40 and have seen just about everything. The kids of Antioch and Grant do not have a place to go or anything to do. We need a center for them. Maybe you should use that bar money to build a center. Practice what you preach.

Students thankful

Drives her crazy too

This is for "Driving him crazy." I have lived in Ingleside for number of years before moving to Antioch. I have never in my life seen worse drivers than those north of Grass Lake Road. Bravo, now I know it is not me.

Stolen vehicle

Be aware. Anyone who has suddenly seen a red ATV appear for sale, ask questions. It was stolen from our garage on January 10 in Antioch. Anyone with any information please contact the Lake County Sheriff's Department.

Heavy petition

I have a gripe. I wonder why the officials and the mayor of Fox Lake all decided to go to Springfield just to carry two petitions. There were only 2,000 signatures. How many of them does it take to carry signatures?

Chauffeur service

As a Lindenhurst resident I can't help but wonder how Round Lake Beach Police Chief Jablonski rates a squad car with a uniformed officer to drive him home with his campaign literature. It is interesting since they do not seem to have enough money to patrol their streets. How can they afford this?

Good job

The Fox Lake Village crew has done a great job in the last few snowstorms. Thanks.

Can't believe it

This is in response to the person complaining about geese. I can't believe someone who lives in LAKE COUNTY would complain about geese. You live in Lake County because there are lakes. Geese come to Lake County because there are lakes. If you do not want to live around geese, I don't think you should live around lakes.

Not snowed under

I would like to take a moment to thank the employees in the public works of Antioch. I get up in the morning after it snows and the streets are clean. I have had no trouble getting out of my driveway and I appreciate it.

One more time

I noticed in the paper today that your Lipservice calls are done. I find it odd that you don't print most of the calls against BEST. Maybe you will print this one. I still say BEST stands for butchering education to save taxes.

Editorial note: Dear reader, you must not have been checking, but this was in the paper before. We try not to put in repetitive messages.

Scapegoat claim

I am calling about the "Question of guilt." I too feel that they are using Juan Rivera as a scapegoat.

Don't know

To the one who has made the number 12 important to me, I miss you. I will always love you no matter what happens. Have I gone too far and pushed you away?

The guilty party?

My comment is directed to the person who called in about the public safety director. Maybe you got caught doing something wrong. That is why you are embarrassed. He has never done anything wrong to me. I think he has done a hell of a job.

Death not solution

This is a rebuttal to "Things aren't ducky." It is not the fault of the geese that a golf course, beach, or park was built instead of leaving them a field of food. These are migratory creatures that have been doing this for years. No, there is not going to be a controlled hunt. We are not going to allow it. Try throwing out some corn or barley out for them in a designated area. Death is not a solution.

No cost gripe

This is "Costly kity." I do not want anyone get the wrong impression. I really did not mind paying and caring for the abandoned cat. The orange tabby cat I found last week is doing well and I am calling him Frosty. My call was to object to the people who dumped the cat off. They should be shot! Too many people are abandoning animals.

Weather hazards

I just read in the paper that they are still thinking about bringing back the senior housing project. I am personally against having the manufactured homes. They bring down the property values and are unsightly. Furthermore, they are dangerous in an area prone to tornadoes. We don't like it and we don't want it.

Who's the problem?

First of all, who do you think you are calling about Cen-Com. Try working up here. Maybe if you weren't such an idiot when you called there would have never been a problem. I have talked to many of the dispatchers there and they are wonderful. See LIPSERVICE page B30

Voter challenge

I would like to challenge the voters of Round Lake Beach to call the village hall to register your vote about Richard Jablonski, the police chief.

Another open hunt

How dare you complain about the geese when all the wildlife areas have been converted into big subdivision. There is no overcrowding of animals, they are just being pushed out of their homes every time a new mall or house goes up. How about an open hunt on jerks like you.

Please vote

March primary elections, when low voter turnout is expected, property owners in Gavin School District will vote on a referendum on a $7.3 million increase as well as a Lake County referendum for an $8.8 million increase in property tax. Can we afford this? Please vote.

No trust

For years, the Postal Service in Ingleside has tried to close this office down, move it to Fox Lake, and downgrade it. These, plus other schemes have been voted down by the residents. Now, the post office is going to become a branch office of Fox Lake. What next? We cannot trust them.

Yes, Virginia

I am a widower, living by myself. I want to give a lot of credit to Virginia Krueger, one of your columnists. It is informative and very helpful. She has some very help information. Keep it up, Virginia.

Thinks guilty

I sick of everyone second guessing Juan Rivera's conviction. He confessed to it, the police believe he did it, the jury believed he did it, and Holly's mother believes he did it. Doesn't anyone care about the victim?

Business idea

I would like to know how many people would pay $20 to receive a pamphlet, "Secrets of a loan officer?" This would help people with the things they need to know in order to get a loan. I am a bank loan officer and am considering writing this book because people ask me everyday for advice. Readers, please respond.

Secret owner

What is the Village of Antioch trying to do? Trying to pass an ordinance to disclose ownership of property. It was on page 7 of the Jan. 7 Antioch News Reporter. What is this like, home rule? It pays to read the whole newspaper. Lakeland is doing its job bringing you the news. It is up to you to read it and do something. I am from Antioch.

Out of money

I am a taxpayer in the Gavin School District. I have a problem with this new building of the district. There are a lot of people out of work and senior citizens on fixed incomes that cannot have social security increased just because their taxes go up. The teachers did get their raise now they are asking for a new school. I am out of work after losing my job of 20 years. Where am I going to get the money?

Likes low water

I am calling in response to the article in the Dec. 31 Antioch News Reporter. The directors of the Waterway Management Agency did not have to fill sandbags this spring. Once again, if it wasn't for Mark Ring, filling sandbags, our home would have flooded. Karen, Wayne, and Pete the water levels are down and for all of us that had to fill sandbags thank heavens it was.

Dirty duty

People, people, people we seem to be getting a little lax cleaning up after our animals now that the winter has set in. In Grayslake, in the older section, Memorial Park is littered with doggy do-do. In fact, there is a lady who lets her dog run right out of the back of her car, lets him litter all over, and then calls him back to the car without ever getting out. Isn't that just ridiculous. Let's get on it.

Not connected, got it

The Antioch Public Safety Director, Lee Shannon is not connected in anyway with the Antioch Rescue Squad. He is certainly not their spokesman.

Why petitions?

I would like to know why they are passing petitions to reinstate Willie Smith as undersheriff. Why are they passing them around after Grinnell has already appointed an undersheriff?

Drug testing

Did everyone hear the Round Lake Beach police chief's speech when he said he wants drug testing for the police department but the police department doesn't want it? Wonder why?

Employment picture

First there were mass firings. Then the patronage hirings and raises. There is chaos in the Round Lake Beach village hall, public works, and now the police department. Who is responsible? Mayor Ralph Davis and his renegade trustee.

Good works

I have never had a nice thing to say about Round Lake Beach but I want to compliment the head of public works director for the fine job he has done.

Picky patient

I am calling about a picture in the Jan. 14 issue of the Antioch News Reporter. There are two gentlemen playing trumpets at the First Chicago Bank. Underneath the picture it says United Airlines Captain but the other man is called a dentist. I want him to be called Doctor. He is my doctor and I want him to get that credit. Otherwise your paper is wonderful.

Long weekend

I am calling to find out the Grayslake Library was closed the day after Martin Luther King's birthday. I can understand it being closed Monday, but Tuesday due to bad weather. Every business in Grayslake is open today but the library. I think they got a nice four day weekend out of that.

Moneys worth

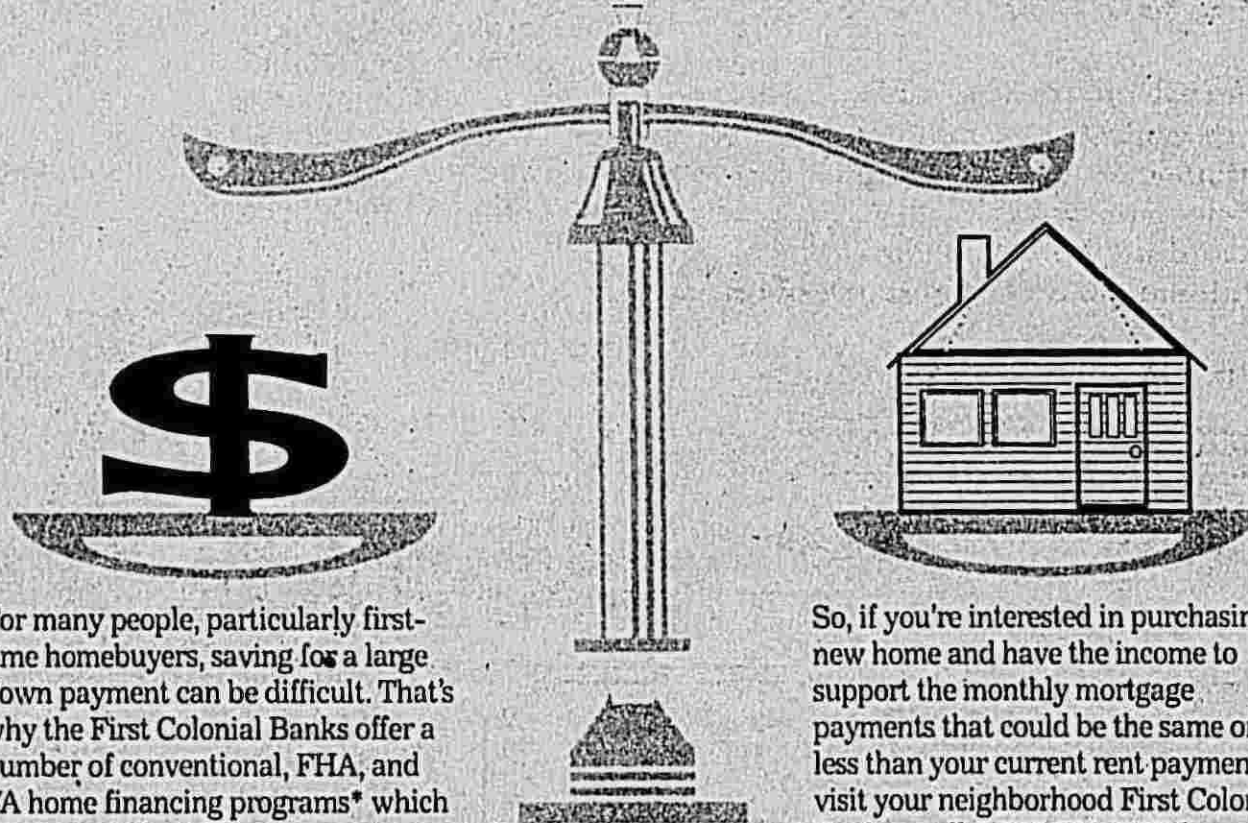

I am calling to say thanks to the Lake Zurich public works department. Last Thursday we noticed water outside of our house. Although it was after working hours we had a supervisor out in one hour and a crew in two. They worked all night until it was fixed. We do pay higher taxes, but we get our monies worth.

She's glad

Richard Jablonski is a pig and a bully. We are glad to be rid of him.

Positive outlook for local housing market

LINDENHURST—The local housing market started on a positive note the beginning of 1994. Real Estate Agents at Century 21 Leech and Associates, 1914 E. Grand Ave., Lindenhurst reported unusually high activity during the first week of the year. According to Pam Podstawa, a top agent for the well-known area firm, "We're seeing many people who held off making a move in 1993. There's more faith in the economy, rates are still low, and we're seeing a demand for housing because of the rapid growing relocation market for this area."

Wadsworth landscapers gain kudos

STEVE PETERSON
Staff Reporter

The landscape and management of properties ranging from residences to a large condominium site won three silver awards for Van Zelst Inc., a Wadsworth landscape firm, at the Illinois Landscape Contractors Association (ILCA) annual awards luncheon.

This is the fourth straight year the firm has won multiple awards. They were presented Jan. 21 in Chicago.

Van Zelst's design-project on a Glenview residence presented many challenges.

Ted Van Zelst said the firm had to work with a forest preserve area and shady trees. "We had to select the type of materials which would live in shade," he said.

High quality shade plants such as Yews, Euonomous Colortus and Daylillies were used. Large terra cotta pots containing Coral Geraniums, Ornamental Spikes and Vinca Vine were added on the porches to complement newly installed Coloratus beds bordering the walkway and the house.

The landscape construction project featured a new patio and pool area constructed using hand picked flagstone perfectly matching the existing 30-year stone columns on the house.

porating night illumination was used, creating a "moonlight" effect.

"Outdoor landscape lighting can create spectacular evening panoramas in wooded areas and highlight individual trees, plants, shrubs and architectural features. The artistic 'moonlight' not only enhances the beauty of a property but also gives an important element of improved security and personal safety with greater visibility by the illumination of paths, walkways, entrances, drives and patios," David Van Zelst, owner and founder of the firm, said.

Another silver award winner for Van Zelst, Inc. was a residential property in Wilmette. An organized landscape management program was developed to address diverse conditions and plant material. All front areas, evergreens and deciduous plants are tightly sheared. Arborvitae gives a backdrop for an annual garden.

"A goal of landscape design and management is to meet the needs and preferences of each individual client for natural outdoor comfort and easy usage. Various phases of your landscaping can be considered outdoor living areas in much the same sense as your indoor rooms - attractive and suited to your lifestyle," David Van Zelst said.

Van Zelst, Inc. received the 1994 Silver Award from the Illinois Landscape Contractors Association (ILCA) for the maintenance of a formal garden of a Wilmette residence. All evergreens and deciduous plants are tightly sheared creating a clean manicured appearance. Management of this property is a four season operation from spring planting through winter pruning.

A 24-acre condominium complex in Buffalo Grove was another winner. It has 400 units and several spectacular waterways with willow trees. Viburnum, Forsythia and Dogwoods up to 10 feet tall were featured. An extensive pruning program was established with weekly maintenance activities. Last spring 15,000 annuals were planted.

In terms of trends, Ted Van Zelst said there is a movement towards brick driveways. "It is more expensive than asphalt, but very attractive," he said.

Poe & Poe, Inc., Realtors joins The Prudential Real Estate Affiliates

Waukegan-Poe & Poe, Inc., Realtors has joined The Prudential Real Estate Affiliates as its charter franchisee in Waukegan, Antioch, Gurnee and Grayslake. The announcement was made by Robert Butler, president, Poe & Poe, Inc., Realtors, and Robert Vedral, Regional Vice President, The Prudential Real Estate Affiliates, Inc. The newly-affiliated firm will be known as the Prudential Poe & Poe, Inc., Realtors.

As a franchisee, The Prudential Poe & Poe, Inc., automatically becomes a member of Prudential Referral Services, (PRS), a national computerized relocation network which provides detailed market information on more than 5,000 communities across the U.S. to its members. The Prudential Poe & Poe, Inc. will have access to PRS relocation data, and will make it available to consumers in the community. Thus, if someone is moving to or from Lake County, The Prudential Poe & Poe, Inc., Realtors can pinpoint housing prices in a myriad of communities nationwide.

In making the announcement, Robert Butler said "our goal is to provide unparalleled service to our customers with the newest, most advanced technology and the best management and sales training available in the industry. The benefits that Prudential offers to our clients and agents, and its superior national image, made this Affiliation a logical step in the progression of our company." Robert Vedral, Regional Vice President, The Prudential Real Estate Affiliates, Inc. said "we are extremely pleased to welcome The Prudential Poe & Poe, Inc., Realtors into The Prudential Real Estate network. It's a company with an incredible, quality reputation; one that will certainly add to the strength of our network."

The Prudential Poe & Poe, Inc., Realtors was founded in 1951. It has four offices and 60 sales associates, and sales, from its founding, of over 1 billion dollars. As a franchisee, the firm will remain independently owned and operated. Continuing as officers of the company will be Jane E. Klauzer, as secretary, and George P. Doyle, as treasurer. Additionally, managers of the company are Jacquelyn Murrie, Stanley Salata, Judith Henderson, Steve Lawrence and Terry Tucker.

Since it began awarding franchises in 1988, the five-year-old Prudential Real Estate Network has become the fourth largest in the country with 1,073 offices, 28,545 sales associates, and 1992 sales of $34.9 billion.

INVESTMENT TRENDS

Baxter and Brunswick recommended to hold

Baxter International

Baxter International, the local biotech giant, has been in the news a lot lately. Unfortunately for Baxter stock holders, the news has not been good.

The latest news focuses on the resignation of Baxter's president over an apparent disagreement with CEO Vernon Loucks. Jim Tobin, has left Baxter because he supposedly favored spinning of the hospital supply division, because of the low profit margin. However, new contracts and recent restructuring in that division may improve prospects.

Long-term holders of Baxter stock may be feeling a little left out, with the stock market having some very good years during the 1990-1993 years, Baxter is at virtually the same level it was in 1990, about $24 a share. That is one of the reasons that I have emphasized before the importance of a dividend. Baxter's is currently 4.0 percent so stockholders haven't lost too much if anything compared with keeping their money in the bank.

Prospects for the future look average, estimates have 1993 EPS at $1.89 a share with 1994 at $2.17 per share and a five year estimated earnings growth of 9%. These numbers, though, are not enough to sway wall street analysts who give the stock a hold rating.

Noah A. Seidenberg
Investment Representative

Brunswick

Brunswick, the name we probably most associate with bowling, actually only has about 25 percent of sales in their "recreation" division, the rest are in their marine division where they make engines for boats, fishing products, and defense products.

In recent news, for the first 9 months of 1993, EPS (earnings per share) were up to 14 percent on 5 percent higher in revenues. The 3rd quarter results were EPS of $0.16 vs $0.12 a year ago. The marine products division was up while the recreation division remained flat. The future has opportunity for Brunswick with a new contract for the Tracker boats, and the possibility for repeal of the luxury tax on high end boats.

Even though the company is expected to increase their earnings by 15 percent a year over the next five years, the stock is still quite expensive trading at about 32 times earnings for 1993, at about 19 dollars a share, and for this reason is recommended as a hold.

Editor's note: Noah Seidenberg, is the local representative for Edward D. Jones and Co., For further information or additional questions, call 223-1908.

Midwest economy looks strong

The Midwest economy is positioned to do well in 1994, fueled by continuing strength in the domestic auto industry, which is dominant in the region, and a pickup in equipment spending as manufacturers reinvest in their own infrastructure, according to Diane Swonk, senior economist at The First National Bank of Chicago.

Real disposable income growth is expected to rise 2.4 percent in 1994 in the region as compared to a forecast of 1.8 percent for the nation. "Economic growth in the midwest will continue to outpace the nation throughout the year," Swonk said.

A favorable trade outlook for midwest heavy equipment manufacturers will further enhance the regional economy. Import competition is expected to remain weak, while export demand is increasing in the

Economic growth in the region will also translate into jobs, especially as the midwest manufacturing sector starts hiring. Employment in the midwest is forecast to rise 2.1 percent in 1994, the highest gain since 1989.

Another boost to the economy will come from the housing market. "Greater appreciation, greater affordability, and a better employment picture have already translated favorably for housing in the midwest," Swonk said. "And the bottoming out of mortgage rates is expected to have little effect on home buying in 1994. Also look for a regionally-based pickup in big ticket spending to accompany the spurt in home buying and building."

Structural imbalances that continue to plague the east and west coasts will remain less of an issue for the midwest, she added.

Real Gross Domestic Product (GDP) for the nation is forecast to rise 3.1 percent, year over year, in 1994. The engines of growth continue to be business equipment spending and residential construction. Lagging sectors include defense, other federal government purchases, trade and commercial construction. Real consumption, supported in part by reduced debt-service burdens, is projected to grow roughly in line with the overall economy.

The First National Bank of Chicago, the tenth largest bank in the country, has more than 70 branches throughout the Chicago metropolitan area providing leading edge banking products and services to retail and business customers. It is a subsidiary of First Chicago Corporation.

County Home Show scheduled for February

The Home Builders Association of Lake County (HBALC), a division of the Home Builders Association of Greater Chicago, presents its 1994 Home Show at the Lake County Fairgrounds in Grayslake on Feb. 5 and 6. The show is open to the public. Show hours are Saturday from 10 a.m. until 5 p.m. and Sunday from 11 a.m. until 4 p.m.

Numerous companies will be displaying the latest in products and services that are now available for the home including pool and spa companies; window companies; fencing; lighting; heating and air conditioning; decks; mortgage firms and landscapers to name a few. Also participating in the show will be builders showcasing new home construction in and around the Lake County area.

In addition to seeing the latest technology available, attendees will have a chance to see a video tape on the "Marvel House" which HBALC built in one day. There will also be seminars on both days.

Saturday's seminars include custom home building presented by Orren Pickell Builders; mortgage finance presented by Commonwealth United Mortgage Company; interior design by the Concept Group; and landscape architecture by Breezy Hill Nursery.

Seminars scheduled for Sunday include custom home building by Chic Martin Signature Homes; mortgage finance by CDK Mortgage; kitchen and bath design by Wood Mode; and landscape design/architecture by Greenview Companies.

There will be entertainment for children on both days including a clown, a facepainter and Sparky the Dalmation. Refreshments will be available at the food concession in the building next door to the exhibit area. The price for admission to the Home Show is $3.

Even after the 1993 Tax Act, there are still a number of ways to effectively shelter your income from taxes—or at least to defer your tax liabilities. Here are some ideas that still work.

Buy A Home. In most cases, you can fully deduct the mortgage interest on your principal residence and on a second home. Rent payments are non-deductible. Additionally, upon the sale of a home you may be able to defer any taxes on the profit by purchasing another home.

Invest for Long-Term Gains. The appreciated value of stocks or stock mutual funds is not taxed until the shares are sold. Long-term capital gains are taxed at a maximum rate of 28 percent—versus up to 39.6 percent on ordinary income.

Max Out Your Retirement Plan Contributions. If your employer has a 401(k) plan, contribute the maximum deductible amount. Your employer may match at least part of that and your earnings accumulate tax free until retirement. If you are self-employed, you may set up a plan and make tax deductible contributions up to the date that your tax return is due.

Employ Your Children. Children under 18 employed in a parent's sold proprietorship or family partnership are not subject to social security tax on their wages—and neither is their parent/employer. (This exemption does not apply to corporations owned by the parent.) The parents can employ their children in their business, pay them a reasonable salary, and deduct the salary as a business expense. The wages earned by the child are earned income taxed at the child's own rate. Up to $3,700 of the child's income can be sheltered with his or her standard deduction, and another 2,000 with an IRA deduction.

Invest in Tax Free Investments. Since taxes affect the actual return on your investments, you may want to consider municipal bonds or municipal bond funds. These types of investments earn tax-exempt interest. For example, if the tax-exempt yield on an investment is 6.0 percent and your marginal tax rate is 31.0 percent, the taxable equivalent yield is 8.70 percent.

Shift Income Producing Assets to Children. You can shift assets to each child under age 14 that produce up to $1,200 of investment income a year. The first $600 is not taxed at all, and the next $600 is taxed at the child's rate. Any unearned income of children under age 14 in excess of $1,200 will be taxed at the parent's rate.

Make Charitable Contributions. The after tax cost of charitable contributions is approximately 60 cents on the dollar for individuals in the highest marginal tax bracket. Charitable gifts can lower your taxable income by being eligible for a tax deduction. These gifts may take many forms including cash, property and appreciated securities.

These are not the only tax shelters still alive and kicking. You should contact your financial advisor for a review of tax-sheltering and tax cutting strategies suitable for your particular situation.

Financial planning seminar set

The Northeast Illinois Council Boy Scouts of America is sponsoring a financial planning seminar, "Make Your Paycheck Last."

"We are delighted to offer this outstanding educational opportunity to everyone in the community," said Jim Harper, chairman of the Scouting Heritage Society. "We truly care about the members of the communities we serve. We help them achieve their goals both at work and at home. This unique seminar is designed to help people fulfill their dreams; after all a Scout is thrifty."

Directing the seminar will be Roch Tranel, financial planner. Tranel has been practicing with Money Concepts for five years. He will focus on individual financial plans and highlight personal goals and crisis elimination.

"Our plan works for all those who follow its simple steps. Thousands of people have benefited from it since 1983. We are not offering stocks, bonds, or get-rich-quick schemes. We are offering a step-by-step solution to your paycheck headaches, without a sales pitch," said Tranel.

The seminar will be held on Tuesday, Jan. 25 from 5:30 to 6:30 p.m. and again from 7:30 to 8:30 p.m. The location will be the Northeast Illinois Council Boy Scouts of America, The Service Center at 2745 Skokie Valley Rd., Highland Park. The Boy Scouts are providing free tuition for all interested employees and their spouses. For more information call Tim Jewett; to register, call Denise, both at 433-1813.

-This Way To WEALTH-

Variable life insurance is a retirement vehicle for the 90's

Let's face facts. For at least the past seven years, the federal government has systematically limited or eliminated a large number of widely available techniques traditionally used by many to accumulate assets for retirement.

•Though often abused, tax shelters in real estate and energy provided avenues for investors to limit taxes, incur big investment risks and, sometimes, reap large economic rewards while, at the same time, funding construction, exploration, research and development.

•We were told, you may remember, that federal income tax rates would be reduced to a maximum of 28 percent in exchange for drastic cut-backs in traditional tax shelters. Those rates have been increased to almost 40 percent for the highest earners and over 30 percent for many in the middle class struggling to educate children, save for emergencies and provide for their retirements.

Quiet tax

•The quiet tax, Social Security, is now levied at the rate of 6.2 percent against the first $60,000 of each individual's annual pay. Medicare costs an additional 1.45 percent of all income, regardless how much. Of course, employers match both.

•Income qualifying for pension and profit-sharing computations was in 1993 reduced from $225,000 to $150,000, reducing eligible employer contributions to qualified retirement plans.

Add to all of this these the following additional hurdles to accruing assets adequate to funding a comfortable retirement. Local and state property, income and transfer taxes continue to rise. Interest yields available on "safe" investments have fallen to their lowest rates in over twenty years. Life expectancies (the amount of time that most of us can expect to need retirement income) continue to lengthen. Little wonder that the task of acquiring adequate retirement income is a daunting one.

Guideposts

There are a couple of simple axioms that, taken together, should serve as guideposts in the challenge of providing sufficient retirement resources.

1. Take advantage of all available qualified plans. Pension, profit sharing and 401(k) plans (and their counterparts in the not-for-profit arena) offer the twin advantages of income tax free contributions and tax free asset accumulation. Remember, though, that all retirement income derived from such plans is fully taxable as received, is subject to stringent statutory distribution standards and may be subject to tax penalties in some situations.

2. Invest in equities with after tax income. To the extent that something is left over after all the bills are paid (as a result of either luck or planning), the purchase of equities will combat the erosion in purchasing power which accompanies inflation.

Real growth in equity values over the past seven decades has materially outstripped increases in the cost of living. But, equities are volatile. So, invest for the long-term. Recognize, too, that equity gains are subject to tax when taken. Though there are no taxes levied during the growth phase, capital gains are currently taxed at 28 percent and there appears to be no real legislative interest in reducing them.

3. Spread the equity risk by investing in mutual funds. Few are either capable enough or lucky enough to "beat the odds" and select stocks that will perform better than a reputable growth mutual fund. Values of shares in such funds will rise and fall over the years, but typically less than prices of a few individual stocks. Some income taxes on dividends and capital gains taxes on stocks sold by the fund will be due each year.

4. Avert taxation on income whenever possible. Because tax rates can be expected to continue to rise, non-taxable income will become more and more valuable. Municipal bonds are a well known source of tax free income.

Yields are currently low, however, and rising yields bring an increased risk of capital loss. Traditional life insurance and annuity products offer both tax-deferred gains (like equities) and, in selected situations, tax-free distributions (like municipal bonds) while offering materially higher yields than municipal bonds.

5. Combine number three and four through variable life insurance. Most simply thought of as a mutual fund within a life insurance wrapper, variable life retains all of the tax advantages of a traditional life insurance product. No income or capital gains taxes are payable on asset growth. Values can be distributed, very carefully in most cases, tax-free. There are more internal charges against asset values with variable life than growth mutual funds.—by

Knights mourn loss of Warmouth

by STEVE PETERSON

Staff reporter

Bingo players at St. Gilbert Church in Grayslake and parishioners in general were in mourning Thursday at the regular bingo night.

For three months, Robert Warmouth has been battling a losing fight with an illness.

His familiar voice of "B 12" will never be heard again as he succumbed to the illness and died Jan. 15.

Norm Kleber is a long-time friend, who knew the Warmouth family of Wildwood for almost 20 years.

"I coached his son in basketball at St. Gilbert," Kleber recalled.

The two helped form the Precious Blood Council of the Knights of Columbus. Warmouth received the highest Knights honor. He was Grand Knight of Council 9689. He supported establishing the brand new council at St. Paul in Gurnee.

"Bob held everything together. He was my right-hand man," Kleber said. "He was able to explain stuff and knew how to calm a storm. I'll miss him," Kleber said.

He was always ready with a smile and a handshake for all, whether at parish events or not.

"He was one person who the parish will not know how much he did until he was gone," Kleber said.

Warmouth, 66, of Wildwood, moved his family from Chicago 18 years ago. He retired in 1986 from Teamsters Local No. 705 and from Victory Memorial Hospital, Waukegan, in 1992.

He leaves his wife of 48 years, Clara and 10 children. They are: Frances (Jeff) Herman of Waukegan; Robert (Mary Ann) of Wadsworth; Amy (Jim) Moran of Waukegan; Johanna Warmouth of Antioch; Judith (Mark) Sandahl of Wildwood; Juliann Warmouth of Wildwood; Regina Warmouth of Waukegan and his brother, William (Nancy) of Chicago. He has 12 grandchildren and 9 great grandchildren.

Mass of the Resurrection was held at St. Gilbert Church Tuesday.

INVITATION FOR BIDS
The Housing Authority of the County of Lake, Illinois is seeking bids from qualified general contractors for the substantial rehabilitation for two occupied single family structures. Griefnotes

Are there ways to help in the early phase of grief?

Early grief is characterized by feelings of shock, confusion and uncertainty. You can help at this time with practical concerns such as driving the grieving to the store, cooking, and babysitting. Reassuring the bereaved that you truly want to help and intend to do so are important. When people are grieving they cannot always take the initiative, so it really helps to go to them and suggest ways you can assist. Always leave them free, of course, to decline your offer. The funeral and visitation are designed to bring support from friends and loved ones. Even if you can't think of something to say, attend and show by your presence that you care.

How To Survive The Job Search

By Nancy Sakol

Q: Dear...Search: I have been employed as a temporary for a major corporation for a period of one year to the day. My position when brought in was said that if I work for a period of one year as a temporary then I will be up for permanent hire by the company. Well, my year has just been blown away. On my so-called anniversary the head of Personnel (or Human Resources as they now call it), came to me and told me that if I could pass a typing test then I will be hired on by their company. The criteria was that I had to type at least 45 wpm. I was caught off guard but I took the test only to find out that I can only type 36 wpm by their standards. Needless to say, I am now jobless. How can a company make a promise to hire you after one year and then pull the rug out from under you with some lame test? V.G. - Glenview.

A: Dear V.G. It sounds as though perhaps the company had set standards as to what requirements may prevail for certain positions. You have failed to mention what type of position you were holding as a temporary. The reason I say this is because if you were working in the accounting department as a general clerk, perhaps the position they were going to offer required data entry with a typing speed requirement. This is a scenario that you will find in large corporations. Requirements to set corporate standards. I would not however, burn my bridges with the company. They have had the opportunity to check out your capabilities for a full year. You both have time invested in each other. Check with Human Resources or your Employment Counselor to see if there may be employment opportunities in other areas. Perhaps you will want to be in touch with your immediate supervisor (the person you reported directly to) and ask that a possible good word be put in by him or her in your favor. Good luck to you.

Note: Nancy Sakol is a licensed personnel professional and President of Superior Personnel in Gurnee. Letters can be sent to Nancy at 5101 Washington St., Gurnee, IL 60031.

Rounded arches, wrought iron railings, brick detailing and a barrel tile roof invite passers-by to take a second look at the Leyland, a mid-size contemporary Spanish home with four bedrooms and a roomy library/loft. This family home is designed with both privacy and gathering spaces in mind.

A huge family kitchen is at the front. The kitchen sink looks out across the small covered porch, and the sun-filled nook extends into the side yard. All of the appliances necessary for food preparation are close together and a walk-in pantry provides ample storage. Range and oven are right next to an appliance center that's nestled into a corner over the dishwasher.

Washer and dryer are hidden behind pocket doors in the nook. And you can unload groceries in the garage and carry them directly into the kitchen. Entry and living room have high vaulted ceilings. A bridge at the top of the stairs overlooks both. Stairs to the optional basement are below the ascending staircase. If the home is built without a basement, a coat closet can fill this space.

Sliding glass doors in the dining room open onto a skylit covered deck, ideal for outdoor meals. The master suite is the only bedroom on the main floor. A novel three-section bathroom is designed to allow three people to use it at once, all in complete privacy. It has a private water closet, a central tub/shower combination, and second toilet and lav that accommodates the living quarters. An identical bathroom arrangement serves the bedrooms on the second floor.

Both the master suite, on the ground floor, and the guest suite, on the second floor, have walk-in closets. Bedroom three, upstairs, has a bay window that makes a cozy location for a window seat. The library/loft has built-in shelves and offers a central location for the family computer. It could be outfitted with easy chairs, a couple of desks, or a long table where kids could do their homework together.

How To Write A Bestseller.

Give the reader all the specifics.

Pretend you are someone reading the classifieds. What would you like to know about the item, service or job you are advertising? Be sure to add details such as:

- color • size • condition
 - brand name • age
 - features • and benefits
- Be accurate! Don't embellish your ad with misleading information. Stick to the facts.

Include the price.

Don't waste your time or a potential buyer's time. If you advertise the price of the item or service you offer, the people who respond to your ad will be those who are genuinely interested. Surveys show that readers are more interested in those items and services they know are within their price range.

Avoid Abbreviations.

Don't make a potential customer work too hard! Although you may be tempted to cut down on the cost of your ad by using abbreviations, surveys indicate that many people don't understand such abbreviations as EIK (eat-in-kitchen) or WSW tires (white side wall) and won't take the time to figure them out.

Include phone number & hours.

Let potential customers know when and where to call. Surveys show that even if a person is very interested in your item or service, he or she will not call back after the first attempt. Stay near the phone during the hours you indicate you will be available. Don't risk missing a sale!

Run consecutive weeks.

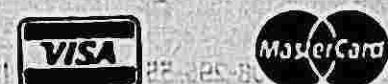

Your ad will not get results if people don't see it! Therefore, it is important to set up a consistent and consecutive ad schedule with your sales representative. Run your ad for at least two weeks.

The Lakeland Newspapers friendly classified advertising representatives are happy to assist you with your ad over the phone. They even assist you with writing your ad. Just call (708) 223-8161 to place your classified ad. Representatives will help you with your ad by phone Monday thru Thursday, 8 am to 8 pm and Saturdays 8:30 am to 12 pm. You can also place your ad in person at:

Carmel hopes to end up smelling a Rose with surge

Carmel High's boys basketball team will be hoping history repeats in the second half.

The Corsairs used a strong finish against some highly touted East Suburban Catholic competition to earn a top eight seed and a post-season home game last year.

"I was hoping to get a sweep as St. Joseph had lost two in a row. But they were up for our game and played hard," Coach Ben Berg said.

The Corsairs started the weekend off well with a 55-49 win over Holy Cross behind 25 points from Landon Rose. Carmel led by 4 after one, but St. Joe then took charge en route to a 67-57 win.

"Landon has been playing with a lot of confidence since Christmas. He had four good games at Kankakee and the kids have been getting the ball inside to him," Berg said.

Bob Glazik, a senior, also earned praise for his two 12-points a game effort.

"He is a very consistent starter at the No. 4 spot," Berg said.

Carmel had a good weekend at the free-throw line, 11-for-13 vs. Holy Cross, 8-for-10 vs. St. Joe.

"We fell behind by 15 points against St. Joe. It is pretty difficult to come back against them. We did cut it to seven," Berg said.

Dan Stasiek had 15 against St. Joe. 12 vs. Holy Cross.

Rick Koeser had 10 vs. St. Joe and kept Holy Cross at bay with two key free throws.

Carmel (6-11, 3-4 ESCC) is at Marian Central Jan. 21 at 7:30 p.m.

"It is very important to win some conference away games to get a high seed," Berg said.

Hanlin is proving a weapon

Justin Hanlin missed most of his senior season at Warren Township High School due to an injury, but watching his skills at College of Lake County has proven to be worth the wait for Lancer fans.

Hanlin turned in what coach Bruce Smith called his most successful week with a 20-point outing in a 79-61 loss to McHenry and 19 points in a 69-59 win over Harper.

"Hanlin has been consistent," Smith said.

Ronzeyl Newsome led the CLC (6-12) offense in the second half of the non-conference game with Harper.

"We worked the ball more and we were more patient," Smith said.

CLC led 41-32 at halftime against a struggling Hawks team.

The Lancers led by 10 points in most of the half, Smith said, but Harper rallied to within two before Newsome hit a two and three-pointer.

Mike Rudd, a Libertyville grad, had 10 points, Rocky Campanella nine.

Chris Vaughan, a Grayslake grad, had 14 against McHenry.

"They have several good three-point shooters," Smith said of the Scots.

Williams scores 13 for LFC in defeat

Lake Forest College's men's basketball team dropped two contests at the Kalamazoo tournament, 71-65 to Rose-Hulman Institute of Terre Haute, Ind. and 79-61 to Bethany College of Bethany, W. Va.

Freshman Jermaine Williams, a Carmel graduate and a North Chicago resident, scored 13 points against Rose-Hulman. The Foresters came within the taller Rose-Hulman squad, pulling to within 3 points with two minutes remaining. But the Foresters left still seeking their first win due to turnovers and errant shots.

One Family At A Time

That's how we help turn new houses into warm, happy homes. And having the Wendt family of Gurnee as our 3,000,000th residential customer makes us feel especially warm.

Everyone, from the Cambridge Homes craftsmen who built their house to all of us at Commonwealth Edison, worked hard to make the Wendt's dream come true—the kind of teamwork you can rely on, too.

About 100 new households are formed in northern Illinois every day. That's 36,500 a year—a new Addison, Orland Park, DeKalb or Buffalo Grove added to the Edison system every 12 months.

Our job is to keep the electric system strong, so that every new household can expect the same reliable service we provide to the 2,999,999 that came before, one family at a time.

Welcome aboard, Diane, Dustin and Terry. We're glad you're our customers!

MICHAEL FOHRMAN OF FOHRMAN DODGE

One of the most unbelievable records ever made in football is this one: There's a man who played in the National Football League for 13 years, gained over 9-thousand yards on pass receptions, scored 68 touchdowns, and—amazingly—FUMBLED ONLY ONCE IN HIS ENTIRE 13-YEAR CAREER... The man who made this incredible record was Raymond Berry... Berry was a receiver for the Colts from 1955 through 1967 and had only one fumble in those 13 years.

What's the farthest any man ever punted a football?... The official record was set by Steve O'Neal of the New York Jets who got off a 98-yard punt in a game at Denver in 1967... O'Neal punted from his own one-yard line to the Denver one!

Here's a real football oddity... There once was a game between Southern Cal and Washington in which one player scored all the points in the game FOR BOTH TEAMS!... He was Byron Haines of Washington, and here's how he did it... He scored a touchdown for his own team, and later in the game was tackled behind his own goal line, giving a safety to his opponents... The final score of the contest was 6-2, so he scored all the points!

I bet you didn't know... For over 14 years, Fohrman Dodge has been arranging purchase plans for military personnel regardless of pay grade or credit history.

Fohrman Dodge's Award Winning Service Department will handle all your service needs regardless of make, model or where you bought your vehicle.

Weird Ways To Wed In Las Vegas

by JIM WARNKEN, PRESIDENT NORTH STAR TRAVEL, INC.

True to its reputation as an "anything goes" kind of town, Las Vegas offers more ways to take the plunge (one quite literally), than anywhere else in the world. Here are just a few.

Sure, Las Vegas is the home of the quickie wedding, but the "Window of Opportunity" package offered by the Little White Chapel takes it to the extreme. This option allows the couple to simply drive up to a window, exchange vows, fasten their seat belts and be on their way!

The Little White Chapel has also teamed up with Las Vegas Helicopters to offer weddings at 500 feet above the lights off the Vegas Strip. The copper chapel lifts off from a pad across from the Aladdin Hotel.

You say a wedding in the sky sounds neat, but a Helicopter is just not romantic enough? Nevada High of Las Vegas will be glad to provide you with a wedding in a Hot-Air balloon.

You've heard of the Love Boat? Well, how about the Love Train? You can get your marriage off on the "right track" by exchanging vows aboard the Nevada Northern's Twilight Special in East Ely. Up to 175 guests can enjoy the ceremony as the historic diesel chugs through the scenic Steptoe Valley.

The literal "plunge" I eluded to earlier is actually called the "Falling for Love" packaged offered by the A.J. Hackett Bungy company. Got the picture yet? A.J. Hackett operates an 18 story tower next to Circus Circus on the strip. About 30 guests can be accommodated at the top of the tower and, after the ceremony, watch the happy couple take a fall!

Graceland Wedding Chapel, owned by a former school mate of the "King", offers Elvis-theme ceremonies complete with entertainment by an Elvis impersonator.

With no waiting period and no required blood test, you need only stop at the County Courthouse, which is open until midnight on weekdays and 24 hrs. a day on weekends, pay $35.00 for a license and pick the way you want to remember your wedding day.

Dick Spangler reached for the 1991 publication without hesitating.

Spangler, the likeable athletic director at Libertyville High, selected "Final Four Magic", Lakeland Newspapers' salute to Libertyville High's fourth-place finish in boys basketball. The Bauer Brothers, Coach Max Sanders, Matt Williams and Co. and their success in Champaign were documented.

That, coupled with the second-place boys soccer title in 1985, Spangler's first year, and the 1991 girls state soccer title, will be among the memories Spangler will recall when he retires in June. Spangler accepted the second year of the state's five-and-five retirement plan for long-standing educators.

"I feel I had a good influence on students and parents," Spangler said in between classes. "I always believe in my ability to work with young people and foster young lives in positive ways."

Spangler's resignation becomes effective June 10. The school is presently accepting resumes for the post.

The decision had nothing to do with the changing of the guard in football. Dale Christensen resigned following a controversial motivational stunt before the final playoff game. "You can't take away what the kids did," Spangler said.

Spangler came to LHS as athletic director in 1985 and immediately set forth on his goal to make LHS facilities among the best in the suburbs. A three-story press box for football and improvements on the softball field are among the latest accomplishments.

The job of athletic director involves much paperwork and scheduling. Like Wildcats baseball coach Jim Panther believes, it is always better to play a game whenever possible, Spangler agrees.

specialization high school sports are mired in.

"Schools can say they are not going to participate in summer leagues, but it is so out of control now. It is a money maker. People who organize it would fight tooth and nail to regulate it," Spangler said.

Spangler graduated from Middlesborough, TN, a school of 800 to 900 students, and later Carson-Newman College, an NAIA institution. He taught for two years at South Haven, Mich., before a 23-year career at DeKalb High.

As for the future, Spangler is considering options outside of sports.

Week takes its toll on CLC

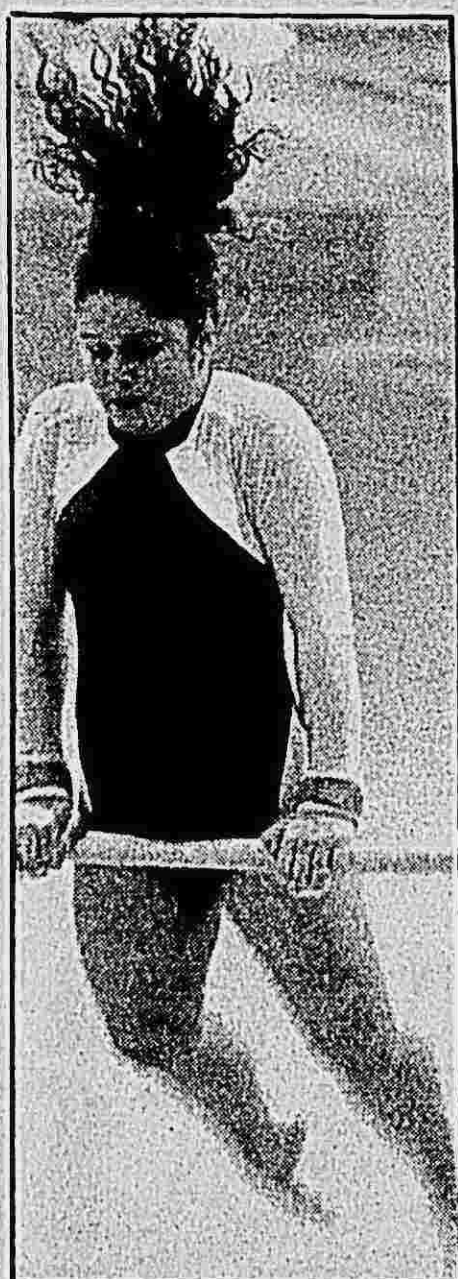

Out of the frying pan and into the fire.

Make that a raging inferno. College of Lake County's women's basketball team faces two nationally ranked teams in 10 days, the second at Kankakee Jan. 22.

The Lancers did not fare well in the first battle with a nationally-ranked foe, McHenry. An 18-1 run by the Scots quickly put away the Lancers, en route to a 65-33 win. The Lancers dropped to 0-2 in the Skyway, 4-10 overall.

"We were never able to do anything," Coach Don Zeman said of the MCC game.

The Lancers knew they would have to hold Scots leader Amy Nelson.

Cheerleader toss gets thumb from prep hoops

When high school basketball fans ventured out to the cold to attend games Saturday, one historic part of the contest was missing.

No, the slam dunk was still possible and the three-point shot is certainly not on the cutting block. What was history that day is the cheerleader basket toss.

"The Cheerleading toss has been grounded by the Illinois High School Assn.," Warren Twp. High School advisor Debbie Popp said.

"I think we should be allowed to (do it). I do not see anything wrong with that," Amanda Samalwood, a freshman at Round Lake, said.

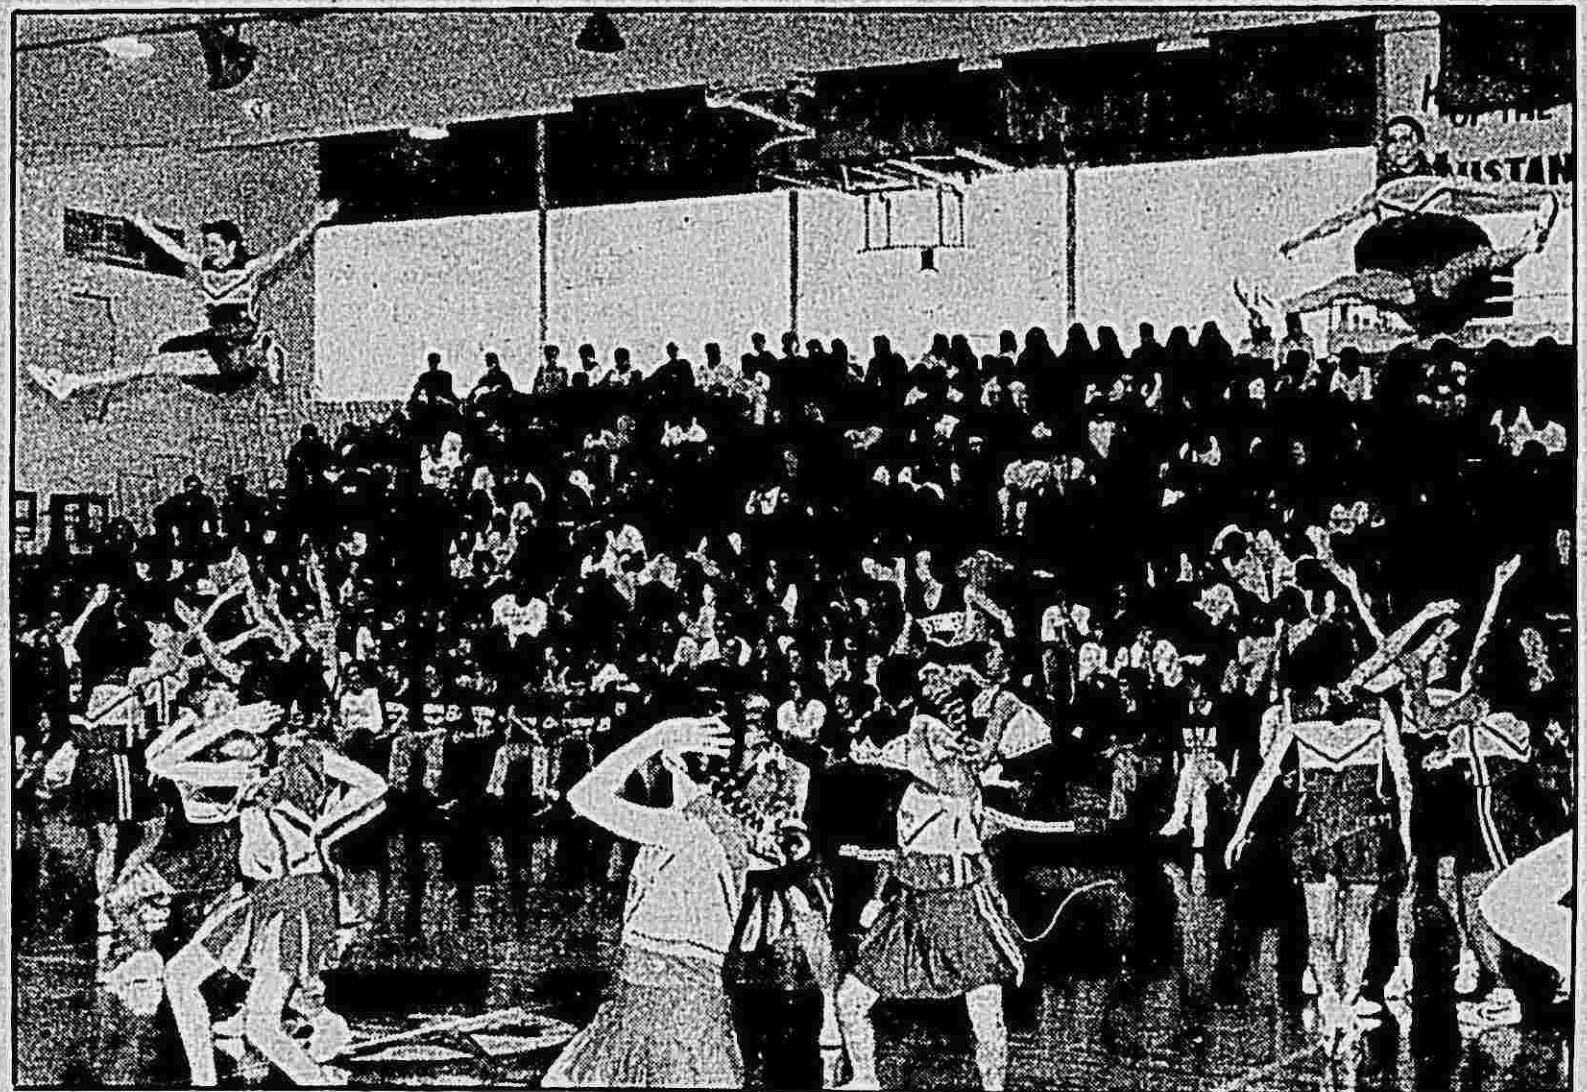

"I think it is very sexist. They don't take tackling out of football," Warren cheerleader Jessica Matulis said. "It will change cheerleading forever."

Cheerleaders said there are spotters when a teammate is flipped.

"We miss it very much," Warren cheerleader Michelle Vick said.

Not only has the crowd favorite been outlawed at games, but at competition, too. The competition Jan. 22 at Palatine will not have tossing cheerleaders.

"I think it should be changed back," Warren cheerleader Anne Gibbs said.

At Grayslake, the cheerleaders are against the move because the fans are behind the nine-win Rams this season.

"We have really good crowds and they get into it a lot," senior Ellie Wallen said.

One of the last games in which a toss was legal was a Lake Zurich-Woodstock battle.

"They're not happy about it," advisor Jennifer Olichner said.

"We depend a lot on it in our competitive routine," Susie Kiesling, a senior captain, said.

At least the toss went out on home win for the Bears.

Czosek to recall highlights of three-gold medal summer

STEVE PETERSON

Some think of baseball with a bat at County Stadium, for others it is a cold one and the vines at Wrigley Field or perhaps a soft pretzel at Comiskey Park.

For Irv Czosek of Libertyville, memories of summer are as close by as three gold medals tucked away in his home. Czosek swept the billiards, table tennis and pentathlon events during summer National Senior Games in Mountain Home, TN.

Czosek is wheelchair bound with multiple sclerosis.

"I used to play table tennis quite a bit before being confined to a wheelchair. Now it is difficult, but I find time to practice at the Veterans Administration Hospital in North Chicago.

Pentathlon is more challenging as it consists of five events.

"The basketball free-throw toss is the most difficult. It is the distance from the wheelchair which makes it much harder," Czosek said.

He enjoys seeing the same wheelchair athletes at every competition. Many are sponsored by wheelchair manufacturers such as Everson-Jennig and Invcare.

He was diagnosed with having MS in 1980 and has been wheelchair bound for seven years.

His success in wheelchair sports was did not begin last year. In 1992, he won two silver and a bronze at Ann Arbor, Mich.

Czosek, a 23-year resident of Libertyville and previous Mundelein resident, earned a business administration degree at Lake Forest College.

During his youth at Austin High in Chicago, he was a baseball and basketball player. There were no dreams of the professional ranks.

Beregenzer gives CHS lift

The shortest distance between two points, they say, is a straight line. Just ask Carmel's Kathy Beregenzer.

The 5-foot-11 inch senior forward's play under the basket proved to be a key to Carmel's 54-44 win over Seton Saturday.

"Kathy gets most of her baskets driving to the hoop against a zone," Carmel Coach Larry Whittier said.

Beregenzer scored 15 points, forced seven takeaways and had three rebounds as Carmel moved to 2-1 GCAC, 5-11 overall.

"The turning point was when we started to get second or third shots," Whittier said.

Colleen Halverson scored 12 points, Ann Zelinski and Colleen Krombach controlled the boards.

Carmel trailed 12-8 after one, but scored 33 points the next two quarters.

Earning praise for her defense was sophomore Jaime Wisler. "She is always in the right place," Whittier said.
